

U.K. RUSHING DRUG TO SAVE RED SCIENTIST

LONDON (AP) — A rare drug was rushed by plane from London to Moscow today to save the life of one of Russia's top scientists. An appeal for the drug, Ureaphil, was flashed to London Monday night by the Soviet Institute of Medicine.

The sick scientist was identified as Lev Davidovich Landau, Russian physicist recently hurt in a car crash.

The appeal was passed to Sir John Cockcroft, British atomic scientist and old acquaintance of Landau.

Cockcroft said, "Professor Landau is probably the world's greatest theoretical physicist — and certainly top in his field in Russia."

5 Children, All Under 6, Die in Fire

KAMLOOPS (CP) — Five children, the eldest five years of age, died Monday night when fire roared through their small frame home on the outskirts of the community of Barriere, 45 miles north of here.

The five children of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Bowie were alone in the house when the fire erupted suddenly and swept quickly through the small home.

Dead are Robert Bowie, 5; Gilbert, 4; John, 3; Stanley, 18 months and Harvey, five months old.

The parents were not at home when the fire broke out. There is no fire-fighting equipment in Barriere, a community of some 500 in the North Thompson valley.

Cause of the fire has not been determined.

SEEN BY NEIGHBORS

RCMP said the fire was noticed by neighbors about 11 p.m. But no rescue attempt was made, neighbors said, because they did not think anyone was in the house.

In any case, they told police, by the time the blaze was noticed it was burning too fiercely to approach it.

One neighbor told police that the house appeared to "just blow up" in smoke and flame.

The charred bodies of the children were recovered from the ruins this morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Bowie were out visiting friends at the time of the fire.

Russians To Release Airliner

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet government agreed today to release a Belgian airliner forced down Monday in Soviet Armenia while on a flight from Tehran to Brussels with 27 persons aboard.

First Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily Kuznetsov told Belgian Ambassador Hyppolite Coels that all passengers and crew members were safe and staying at a hotel in Grozny, north of Yerevan, where the plane was reported forced down.

Kuznetsov delivered a routine formal protest about the violation of Soviet air space by the jetliner.

There was no further word on how the plane, en route from Tehran to Istanbul, strayed so far off its course. Nor was there any word on just how it was forced down. The plane landed after a rescue workers finished their all-night job of clearing wreckage.

'U.S. Called Strike Vote'

MONTREAL (CP) — CNR President Donald Gordon has told the railway's engineers company negotiators "find it difficult to avoid the conclusion" that the decision to circulate a strike ballot among the engineers was made by the union's head office in Cleveland.

Huge B.C. Drug Ring Exposed Head Men Among 42 Arrested

Two of Suspects Held in Victoria

Two men were arrested in Victoria today in one of three raids on the West Coast narcotics racket.

A total of 42 suspected traffickers were rounded up in Vancouver, Victoria and Calgary in the biggest case of its kind ever launched.

Vancouver's tally in the raid was 38; the remaining two were arrested in Calgary earlier.

Helicopters Removing Ship's Crew

HALIFAX (CP) — Helicopters started removing the crew from the grounded freighter Suerte today when rough seas and shallow water kept tugs from reaching her.

A navy helicopter brought off Capt. Dimitrios Charissis of Athens in mid-morning to discuss his ship's plight with shipping agents and salvage men.

A few hours later they decided to remove all 28 crew members except a watchdog squad of three. Navy and air force helicopters did the job in relays, landing the men, most of them Greeks, at nearby Shearwater naval air station.

The 7,238-ton Suerte ran onto a coastal reef about 15 miles east of here late Monday night in foggy weather. She was bound for Halifax from Britain to load grain.

ANSWER DISTRESS CALL — The Halifax salvage tug Foundation Vigilant and the navy patrol boat Loon stood by the stricken ship after Capt. Charissis sent out a distress call.

There was confusion about the Suerte's registry. Lloyd's of London listed her as Panamanian. The word Beirut painted on her stern indicated she was Lebanese, but her agents here, F. K. Warren Ltd., said she is now registered in Costa Rica.

The Suerte stuck fast Monday night on hidden rocks about 500 feet off Shut-In Island near the entrance to the little fishing port of Three Fathom Harbor.

She began leaking badly. By morning much of her hold was filled with water. Her engine-room was flooded.

Officers of the Vigilant, a salvage tug, said the first job would be to pump enough water out of the freighter to free her from the reef.

These death-bed repentances are revealing, if not always helpful.

Prior to the 1957 general election the former Liberal government raised the old-age pension to $16 from $10 a month. Later, the Conservative government raised it to $35.

WEST GERMANY PROMISES AID TO BRITAIN

BONN (Reuters) — West German Chancellor Adenauer agreed in talks with British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan today to step up German arms purchases in Britain. (See story, page 2.)

A communique issued after a day of talks between the two leaders said a committee of experts would be set up to go into the question of West German financial aid to Britain to offset the drain in foreign currency caused by the stationing of British troops in West Germany.

The party today disclaimed his leadership, following resolution by parliament Monday, demanding Gizenga return from self-imposed exile in Stanleyville to answer accusations of secessionism.

FOR LATE-COMERS

In some provinces, the provincial government provides payments to supplement the pensions.

The increase in the basic pension of $20 a month is designed to take care of those who have no opportunity to contribute to the proposed contributory plan.

The policy statement said: "Liberal governments introduced the universal old-age pension and, in co-operation with the provinces, made old age assistance available to people between 65 and 70 who are in need."

BURDEN LIFTED

"This government action is a supplement to private saving. But, while many companies now have good pension schemes, the majority of the working population is not covered by them. And there are other problems."

"While young people can build up good pensions by the time they retire, new private plans cannot enable older people to do so."

SEATTLE WOMEN ARM FOR DEFENCE

SEATTLE (AP) — A small band of women vigilantes who call themselves "The Alerters" patrolled Capitol Hill Monday night in the first skirmish of their fight against purse snatchers and the like.

"We're going to see that between 5:30 and 7:30 p.m. women can walk the streets without being attacked," said their captain, Mrs. Dodie Stenerson, who armed herself with a cricket bat.

There are about 10 women in the group, and three of them have been attacked within recent weeks in the area, in central Seattle.

They answered the call to arms with rolling pins, a baseball bat, a toilet plunger, a billy club, a saucapan, an umbrella, a cane and Mrs. Stenerson's cricket bat.

The women had a conference with Police Inspector W. W. Crow and Sgt. Wilbur Farmer.

"I'd advise against women carrying weapons that could be taken away from them by any able-bodied citizen and then used to attack them," said Crow.

"Perhaps the best method would be using something that makes a lot of noise, like a police whistle. But these people are all over 21 and within their rights."

Mrs. Stenerson said The Alerters want quicker response by police to calls for help, fewer children running around in bunches and better street lighting.

Uphill Fight Faces Wilson

By JOHN MIKA

A long, hard fight is ahead for Mayor R. B. Wilson if he wants to see his plea for a metro police force, or even a study of municipal amalgamation, accepted by the civic politicians.

The suggestion for unifying the four separate police departments to improve efficiency and economy was slapped down Monday only hours after Mayor Wilson voiced it in his first inaugural address.

Oak Bay Reeve George Murdoch and Esquimalt Reeve A. C. Wurtele, both of whom earlier asked for standardized police training here, rejected the proposal.

Spanish Reeve Stanley Murphy said a study of total amalgamation should be carried out.

GOV'T READY TO HELP IN CITY'S METRO BID

A sympathetic B.C. government ear awaits any move toward greater Victoria metropolitan government or amalgamation of services.

Civic leaders are meeting today to discuss metro possibilities and a suggestion for a provincial government study of the issue.

"We'll certainly give serious thought to it," promised Municipal Affairs Minister Wesley Black. The government has assisted in such studies before. Most recent was for Vancouver.

Viewed as a likely candidate to conduct a Victoria study is former deputy municipal affairs minister B. C. Bracewell.

Oak Bay council's inaugural meeting Monday night backed up the reeve with adoption of a resolution expressing full satisfaction with its present police force and maintaining the metro police concept had insufficient merit.

An even more serious obstacle to Mayor Wilson's hopes was thrown up by an Oak Bay resolution saying the council was prepared to discontinue any further discussions with the neighbors, but was not willing to participate in a formal study of amalgamation under Municipal Act provisions.

'BRAINWASHED'

"If we stand idly by, our own citizens will become brainwashed. The people should be entitled to some guidance from us," said Coun. Cox.

"I feel strongly that we have the finest police force in the area, that we have confidence in our police force and see no merit in a metropolitan force until we can be shown some saving."

Proposed study of an amalgamated area "will be a trap because it will be discussion with a gun in our backs," Coun. Cox said.

Boy Swings At Mother Of Dead Tot

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—A 13-year-old boy, charged with murder in the strangulation of seven-year-old Sylvia Finks, swung his first at her mother Monday.

The blow, which did not land, was thrown in the courthouse hall shortly after Judge W. H. Fox ruled admissible a signed statement the boy made to police.

Defence lawyer W. R. Poole offered no evidence at the three-day trial but asked the charge be reduced from one of murder to "something else."

Judge Fox remanded the boy to Jan. 15 for judgment on the charge and on the application.

It was not known what caused the fist-swinging.

Fleeing German Policeman Shot

BERLIN (UPI)—Russian soldiers guarding the Berlin border shot and killed a Communist policeman trying to escape to West Berlin, the West Berlin newspaper Morgenpost reported today.

The newspaper attributed its report to a Communist border guard who fled to West Berlin Monday. West Berlin police could not confirm the report. They said a border guard did flee to West Berlin Monday but they had no report on a border shooting involving Russians.

Sukarno Attack Blamed on Dutch

JAKARTA (Reuters)—Indonesia today expected a new anti-Netherlands outburst in the wake of the two-day-old "Dutch-perpetrated" attempt to assassinate President Sukarno with a grenade.

An Indonesian government statement charged Dutch agents were believed to have organized the plot as a reaction to Sukarno's drive to "liberate" Netherlands-ruled West New Guinea and annex it to Indonesia.

Government officials here said those responsible for the attempt on Sukarno at Makassar in the south Celebes were believed to be followers of former Dutch paratroop captain Raymond Westerling, who in 1950 led his own "heavenly host" private army in an abortive revolt against the Indonesian government.

Meanwhile, Indonesian Foreign Minister Subandrio told reporters a final decision will be made within 10 days on whether diplomatic means could be of any use in settling the dispute.

HOSPITAL SETTLES SUIT

VANCOUVER (CP)—A suburban North Surrey millwright will receive $5,000 damages in out-of-court settlement in a suit against the New Westminster Royal Columbia Hospital.

Charles Alexander Cox claimed he suffered spinal injuries when he fainted and fell from the hospital's X-ray table Jan. 4, 1960 while being prepared for a back injury operation.

He was in the hospital four months as a result of the fall. He claimed the accident was caused by the negligence of radiologist Dr. Dacie Gunn and X-ray attendant Arthur Power.

Ottawa 'Duty' to Back Power Views of B.C.

VANCOUVER (CP)—Chairman Dr. Hugh Keenleyside of the British Columbia Power Commission said Monday the Social Credit government's plan to sell Columbia power in the United States would ensure a rigid contract.

He told the University Women's Club that under such a contract power could be reclaimed for use in B.C. if needed in 20 years' time.

Conditions have changed said Dr. Keenleyside, since the federal government established its hydro export ban.

Economic progress in B.C. could be hastened under the B.C. plan to sell the province's share of the downstream benefits in the U.S.

Speaking about the federal provincial impasse on the multi-million-dollar Columbia plan, he said: "It seems to me it's the duty of the federal government to accept the views of the provincial government unless they are contrary to the welfare of the rest of Canada."

Brisk Approach to Issues

MAYOR DICK WILSON HAS set out briskly and logically the city's needs as he sees them and the priorities they should be given.

In his inaugural address he has called for a metropolitan police force to serve the whole community. This is a sensible step toward closer integration of municipal services in Greater Victoria. It is true that a substantial degree of co-operation exists between the true that greater efficiency could be brought to their work if a metropolitan control were established.

Those against whom the police must move do not observe municipal limits. Why then preserve the foolish jurisdictions which could impede law enforcement officers in their duties?

Unification of police work would be, of course, only one more step in the eventual amalgamation of the Greater Victoria district, or its operation under a metro system.

The citizens will note in Mayor Wilson's address a realistic approach to civic finance. The mayor makes an excellent case in his call for grants in lieu of taxes from the province on government property which, as it extends, reduces the assessment in the city. He can be depended upon to press for compensation—and to strengthen his diplomatic approach with shrewd logic.

But while the mayor declares his intentions in this respect, he is straightforward in his statement to the citizens that, in general, they face more taxation if they are to have the major projects which they appear to want.

"It is to be realized," he tells them, "that new projects, such as the city hall or an auditorium can only be paid for by an increase in taxation on existing property, unless returns from land sales are used for this purpose." And, he adds, that source of revenue is drying up.

He is similarly realistic in stating that the council must give early and careful attention to the rehabilitation job needed by the city. The principles of the urban renewal report are before him and he recognizes the necessity of studying them to determine what practical action can be taken without delay.

The inaugural address indicates no intention by the mayor to skirt troublesome problems. He foresees the difficulties which will arise in public transit and he has accepted for himself the responsibility of carrying the city's case in negotiations which will occur.

In like manner he assumes leadership in intermunicipal business for the city, for encouragement of trade and industry and for the council's part in stimulating tourist trade and air traffic in Victoria.

An inaugural address, under any circumstances, is based on some elements which are unpredictable. As time passes new circumstances must be considered and they may influence policy.

Mayor Wilson's plans cannot escape the effects of unforeseen developments. On the whole, however, his outline of policy and programs reflects a briskness, an understanding of the job ahead of him and a whole-hearted determination to do that job to the credit of himself and Victoria.

Principles and Practices

ALONG WITH THE NEW ERA of prosperity and consumer goods which Mr. Khrushchev has promised the Soviet Union over the next 20 years, the people of the U.S.S.R. are also promised a new constitution. This will replace the present "Stalin" constitution which was written 25 years ago.

It might be assumed that such a constitutional reform would mean release from the harshness associated with Stalin's name and record, and provision of a freer, more liberal set of laws. But, as the Toronto Globe and Mail points out, the Stalin constitution was actually as liberal and democratic a document as was ever framed.

The tragedy of the Russian people lay not in a restrictive constitution but in the fact that the free one was never observed.

The Stalin instrument provides, says the Globe and Mail, for "regular national elections, with universal suffrage and the secret ballot. The Parliament thus elected, the Supreme Soviet, is to have complete control over the executive departments of government. The various republics making up the Union are given wide powers of local self-government, and have the right to secede. Individual citizens are guaranteed freedom of religion, freedom of speech, freedom of the press, freedom of assembly, freedom of association and freedom of demonstration, together with inviolability of their persons and homes; and in addition they are to enjoy the right to employment, to education, and to maintenance in old age and sickness.

These rights, it is emphasized, extend to all, regardless of race or nationality. There is a regular system of courts to enforce the law, and judges are stated to be independent of political control."

The complete domination of the parliamentary system by the Communist Party made this constitution nothing more than a set of forgotten words. Through its agents, the secret police, the Party ruled with terror and an entire disregard for the rights of any individual.

In drafting a new constitution Mr. Khrushchev will have difficulty in devising more attractive ideals. His whole reform, as it must in any constitution, will lie in whether or not the ideals of the document are put into practice.

One of the arguments against creation of a formal statement of the rights of man in Canada has been that such a document would not be any stronger than the "unwritten law" of human freedoms; that any government determined to override the law or ignore it could nullify its guarantees.

That may well be true, although it is not the ultimate answer as to whether or not there should be such a written code. But the fact remains that human freedom and civil liberties rest on practice more than on formal statement, on active public demand that will quickly curb any attempt at infringement, on the ceaseless vigilance of taxpayer, voter, businessman and press.

Without such a public watch there can be no guarantee of human rights—as Russia and many another country have demonstrated.

Far From the Old Folks at Home

THE SENTIMENTAL SONGS still fix the deep South as the home of the American Negro, but the migration statistics suggest "it ain't necessarily so."

In the decade of the 1950s net migration of non-whites from the South was estimated at 1,457,000, the highest in history for a 10-year period.

Almost a third of them went to California. Others found homes in New York, Illinois, Ohio and Michigan in that order.

This migration will not, in itself, solve the integration problem, but such a movement of peoples will change it to a substantial degree.

At least the prejudices that may arise on matters of color can scarcely be as deep-rooted in point of time in the new locations as they were in the historic South. Perhaps that may speed the process of assimilation, though it will no doubt add by sheer weight of numbers temporarily to the existing frictions in new places of domicile.

Meanwhile, Back at the Classroom

A VANCOUVER REPORT SAYS the following question appeared on a University of B.C. economics examination:

"Discuss critically and analytically the following statement: 'The minimum degree of seller concentration consistent with maximum efficiency is determined by the minimum optimal scale of plant. In those cases in which the plant might expand "indefinitely," or at any rate over any range of sizes relevant in the actual market situations observed without increase or decrease in unit cost, the size of the plant, and hence the degree of seller concentration, is indeterminate. Insofar as the enterprise seeks to maximize profits, size is of little importance once all economies of scale have been exhausted. If the enterprise is larger than is necessary to benefit from all economies of scale, it must be so for other reasons than the profit motive."

A burst like that seems to support a claim that much more education is needed by the students—or much less by the examiners.

China and Russia: The Great Rivalry

THE magnitude and bitterness of the Sino-Russian quarrel is still not widely understood in the West, although it is more than two years since it reached its first climax. Since then, the split has virtually paralyzed comradely relations between the two great Communist Powers, bedevilled their foreign policies, and thrown into confusion the smooth co-operation of the fraternal parties throughout the world.

It is easy enough to see how this immense convulsion has failed to make its proper impact on the outside world. Since neither the Russians nor the Chinese have yet made a direct public pronouncement, information as to what has been going on has to be fished out of obscurity.

In the closing days of 1961 and the first week of this new year, the two great antagonists have come closer than before to naming each other publicly; but until now, the campaign of mutual polemic and intrigue has been referred to in the oblique manner beloved of Communists—at best irritating, at worst meaningless, to unbelievers.

Albanian Issue

Even today, there are people who find it hard to take the Albanian issue seriously, and who are still unconvinced that "Albania" is the current Moscow ideograph for Mao Tse-tung.

One result of this is that we are missing the unfolding of what can fairly be described as a great epochal drama, the fragmentation of the Communist International.

Another is that close observers of this drama have been so intent on demonstrating that it exists that they have had no time to speculate freely on how it came about, why it continues, where it is leading—on, indeed, more elementary still, who, precisely, is quarrelling with whom.

Nineteen sixty-two should throw more light on this. At the close of the old year, both the Chinese and the Albanians went out of their way to emphasize that the real bogey man in their eyes is Mr. Khrushchev personally.

The Chinese pointedly omitted to name him in their New Year greetings to the Soviet Communist Party; the Albanians, more directly, have been calling down the wrath of heaven on the iniquities of "N. Khrushchev and his followers" while professing undying fealty and affection for the Soviet people as a whole.

Readers are already familiar with the main issues between the two antagonists. But what has never been clear is whether Mr. Khrushchev has been carrying the whole Soviet party with him or not.

At the 22nd Party Congress in October last year, there were many signs to indicate that his renewed onslaught on Mao Tse-tung's position took everybody by surprise, not only the Chinese, who walked out, but also the Soviet comrades; and that he was using the occasion to force an issue not only with the Chinese but, through his renewed attacks on the anti-party group, also with recalcitrant comrades at home.

Some retrospective light on this very obscure situation has been shed in an article by Mr. David Charles in the current issue of China Quarterly. This article, besides confirming a good deal of what has already been printed in these columns, has some very suggestive things to say about the part played by individuals in the development of the quarrel: namely Mr. Khrushchev himself and the late Chinese Minister of Defence, Marshal Peng Teh-huai.

Policy Attack

Marshal Peng, a member of the Chinese Politburo, submitted to the party in 1959 an elaborate memorandum which was nothing less than a comprehensive attack on the whole policy of Mao Tse-tung—above all the "Great Leap Forward," the communes, and the organization of the army, with particular reference to nuclear strategy.

He was arrested in the great purge of the "right-wing opportunists," degraded, and condemned to a period of intensive "reindoctrination" in the most humble circumstances.

The interesting thing is that the terms of his criticism brought him closely into line with Mr. Khrushchev. Mr. Charles now shows that Marshal Peng had in fact shown his memorandum to Mr. Khrushchev at Tientsin in May, 1959, before he presented it to the comrades at home—in other words, that, as a member of the Chinese Politburo, he had applied for moral support to the leader of the Soviet party in a quarrel with his own chief.

The ins and outs of the affair are still unclear. It is not certain, for example whether Mao Tse-tung discovered this act of disloyalty before or after Marshal Peng's arrest. But enough is known to show that the extreme bitterness of the Chinese attitude towards Mr. Khrushchev has been because, to use a familiar phrase, he was caught interfering in the affairs of another country. Since then this charge of interference has been frequently made on both sides.

Big Question

What emerges is a very big question. Are we watching a straight power fight between the Soviet Union and China? Or are we watching a mutual struggle between Mr. Khrushchev and Mao Tse-tung, as individuals, to get each other unseated?

Does this explain Mr. Khrushchev's forcing tactics at the 22nd Party Congress? There has been a good deal of evidence in the past two years to indicate that Mr. Khrushchev has not been carrying his Soviet comrades with him all along the line.

A sidelight is thrown by Mr. Charles when he tells us that a few days after Marshal Peng was cordially received by Mr. Khrushchev in Tientsin, he had a somewhat frigid meeting in Moscow with the senior Soviet army commander, Marshal Moskalenko.

Be this as it may, vistas of a new and fascinating kind open up before our eyes. We had long been all too self-consciously—self-pityingly indeed—aware that Communists in a bourgeois society find their highest expression of loyalty in the service of Moscow and do not regard themselves as traitors when, for example, they work for the Kremlin against Whitehall.

The incident of Marshal Peng, within the great framework of the Sino-Soviet quarrel, suggests that Communists in a Communist society may not be immune from the same disease. (London Observer Service)

In the Opinion of Our Correspondents

Not a Typical Fisherman

We would like to comment on the recent article in your editorial column on Mr. Elgin Neish who went to Cuba as a delegate for the United Fishermen and Allied Workers' Union. Mr. Neish is referred to as a well-known local fisherman. He is no doubt well known, however he is not the typical Victoria fisherman and his views are strictly his own.

Among the trollers tied up at Fishermen's Wharf here, one would have to hunt carefully to find any that were represented by Mr. Neish and the United Fishermen and Allied Workers Union. No doubt there are a few, but not many. Most of these trollers are represented by the Pacific Trollers Association or the Prince Rupert Fishermen's Cooperative, as is the case on the entire B.C. coast. The public has been led to believe that the United Fishermen's and Allied Workers Union represents the entire B.C. fishing industry. This is not the case. Neither Mr. Neish nor the union represent the commercial troller, nor do they bargain for troll fish prices.

The organizations representing the troller may not be too well known to the public, as we do not send delegates on political safaris and do not make the papers very often. However, we find we have a full time job here at home working on the problems that affect the commercial troller.

RAY LUND.

Mailed Early

I wish to make a very strong protest against the disturbing handling of our mail during the last two months.

We have had a great many complaints from our hotel guests.

I have a number of my own personal and business envelopes, showing that second class letters mailed from all parts of Canada, including Victoria, and stamped in the various post offices from Dec. 12 to 21, were all delivered here on Dec. 29. At the same time I received a first class letter stamped in Portland, Oregon, on Dec. 14.

On Monday, Dec. 11, in time for that day's pick-up, I wrote two business firms in Vancouver, asking that parcels be ready for me to pick up in Vancouver on Thursday, Dec. 14. When I arrived in Vancouver on that day neither letter had been received, and I was therefore forced to return without the parcels, and later pay express charges on them.

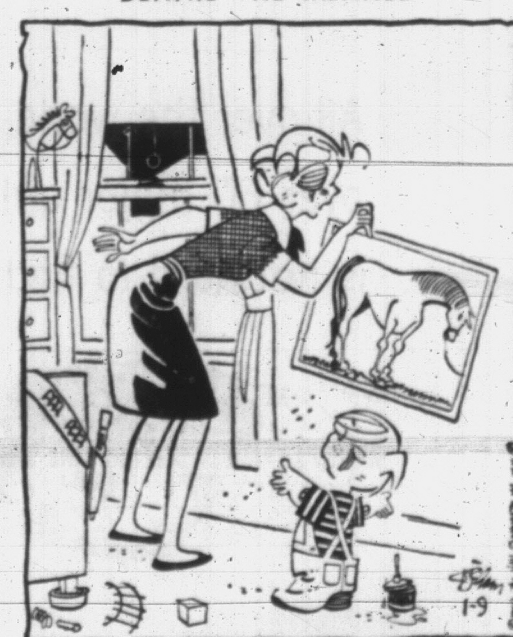

At this writing (Jan. 1), I have been called to answer a long distance call from Vancouver from the Rev. L. A. C. Smith, 247 West 8th St., North Vancouver, who wrote us on Dec. 18, asking for a reservation for Jan. 2. I replied under date of Dec. 22, the day his letter was received, but since he has never received mine he has had to telephone from Vancouver to find out whether we could accommodate him. The copy of my letter to him shows the address to be completely correct, and our letter has not been returned to us.

In regard to Christmas cards, if it is decided that they are to take several weeks to reach us from Victoria and other parts of Canada, the public could be advised to mail them in October, but what I am concerned with is our business mail. I cannot see the need for a holiday on Boxing Day, making three consecutive days without mail, but this is probably not important since the unbelievable delays have been affecting our mail for several months.

New Regime In Goa

By DENNIS BLOODWORTH, from Pangim

THE journey from Belgaum to Pangim, capital of Goa, led us along a dirt track passing through steep ravines, over roads meticulously cut and sometimes mined by the Portuguese (the mines still carefully marked with flags), over dilatory ferries that the Portuguese had failed to destroy, and through dank Indian jungles overhung with creeper.

Prime Minister Salazar had ordered the Portuguese in Goa to resist the Indian army for at least eight days "for urgent political and diplomatic reasons." Evidently he had hoped to hold up the Indian invasion while he made further approaches to America, perhaps to the United Nations, and certainly to Britain.

But the 4,000 Portuguese troops in Goa had sensibly behaved like children on a fireworks spree. They had lit the fuses and then run. The minefields were covered by no machine-guns, the blasted roads were undefended.

For the Indians—as for ourselves—the problem was one of driving, of circumventing obstacles, and not of risking encounter with a determined enemy.

In Pangim itself there were unhappy rumors that those Portuguese who returned to Lisbon from Goa would be held and tried as traitors.

Many of the 3,500 Portuguese soldiers, however, taken prisoner by the invading Indians have asked to join the Indian army rather than go home. And, above all, it is feared that the Portuguese governor-general of Goa, General Vassallo E Silva, may be made the scapegoat for the collapse of colonial resistance.

This would set the seal on the odium that attaches to the Salazar regime. All Goans told me in Pangim that this man was the best governor-general Goa had ever had.

Lasting Influence

"The Salazar regime was insupportable," most Goa nationalists told me in Pangim. "But you must not think that every Portuguese was a devil, nor that 451 years of colonial influence can be wiped out in a day."

Nor can it, Pangim, with its old Portuguese houses, its winding narrow streets and great grim churches, is much as it was four centuries ago.

Shut your eyes to the motor cars on the esplanade, and the view across the Mandovi River to the palm-fringed opposite shore, interrupted by lateen sailed coastal craft, must be the same as it was 400 years ago.

In the grille-windowed and verandahed homes of the prosperous, a ceremonial glass of wine is offered to the visitor. On the terraces of the main hotel, bearded locals whose main language is the slurred speech of Lisbon, sip their brandy and glance reflectively at the passing ladies.

Into this miniature and leisurely paradise the Indian army erupted from a vast, overpopulated Asian colossus in which tough economic restrictions limit the sale of consumer goods, subject the individual to high taxes, and impose upon him a strict prohibition of liquor.

Sharp Change

For the easy-going Goan, this looked unpleasantly like Nemesis. There would be no more cheap luxuries, no more profitable smuggling into India, no predominating and paternal Catholic Church closely linked to the colonial power.

But the Indian army did much to allay such grim expectations. Although thousands of local Goans barred their doors and awaited the holocaust, no holocaust came. The advancing 50th Parachute Brigade of the Indian army, the only formation involved in a stand-up fight with Portuguese troops, made its first peacetime task the job of repairing a Catholic church damaged by Portuguese demolition squads.

Although two Indian officers were shot dead by Portuguese while responding to a white flag of surrender, no massacre followed.

Indian troops crowded the shops to buy everything from cameras to expensive French perfumes which they could not obtain except at a high price in India. But they also crowded the massive Portuguese churches, the Sikhs worried that their turbans should be removed, the parachutists asking me if they should take off their army boots before entering.

There can be little doubt that the majority of Goans would prefer their little state to have remained semi-independent, a combination of toy Riviera and prosperous free port living like a fat suckerfish on the body of the Indian Union.

First Impression

Nothing could have given a better first impression than the army of Major-General Kenneth Candeth, the provisional military governor appointed by New Delhi.

Occupying the old Portuguese governor's palace, from whose walls the portraits of Lisbon's appointees for the past 400 years stare down from their frames, General Candeth looks as ferocious as his aggressive, curled moustache, but is as chivalrous as all front line commanders who leave hatred of the enemy to those well in the rear.

In consequence, the period of transition from Portugal to India, though accompanied by currency muddles, lack of money, the cutting off of water in Pangim, demolitions, and many incidental discomforts and even heartbreaks, has been relatively smooth, and the "invasion" story is over almost as soon as it has begun; for there are no lurid details. Only now, as the civil servants seep in from Delhi, and the political antagonisms of the collar-and-tie men begin to make themselves felt, are the Goans once more beginning to worry. India has promised that the Goan "way of life" will be respected, but no one believes that this will last more than three years at the most.

There is growing realization that the happy-go-lucky days of the past are over, that Goa must inevitably join the struggle of the great emergent Asian nation to which she will now be attached, and that this will involve something that only a small nationalist minority of the inhabitants in the sleepy, anachronistic little haven have understood or welcomed since the 16th century: sacrifice.

REPORTING

OTTAWA — The four-month-old quarrel between Ottawa and London that ended in tender kiss-and-make-up scenes here last week obviously need never have happened. Why did it?

A puzzling aspect of the quarrel was the inordinate suspicion that the Canadian government displayed towards the British government. The attitude of Finance Minister Fleming and High Commissioner George Drew over British refusal to supply Canada with the text of Britain's opening statement in the Common Market negotiations in October suggested that the Canadian government suspected Whitehall was selling commonwealth trade down the river.

This was the crisis in the quarrel. Subsequent British disclosure of the text (of a speech delivered by Lord Privy Seal Edward Heath to ministers of the Inner Six) cut the ground right out from under Fleming and Drew: there was nothing in the text to support Canadian suspicions. That disclosure took a lot of the heart out of the Canadian fight to keep Britain out of the Common Market.

The two men mainly responsible for the scrappiest and most suspicious members of the former Conservative opposition in the House of Commons. They have not lost these qualities.

Indeed, one needn't stop there. Suspicion, a main factor of "political opposition" psychology, has been prominent in the psychology of the whole Conservative administration. It has affected the government's relations with newsmen, with civil servants, and with foreign governments.

The heads that have rolled in the civil service, the charges of "misquote" and "bias" that half the ministers have leveled at the press, the mixture of procrastination and tough talk that the government has employed in its dealings with the United States and the United Kingdom — these all have a common denominator in a psychological hangover of 22 years in opposition.

Not only did the administration's suspicions of Britain prove unfounded, but they proved unpopular with the voters. Ottawa can be as snarky as it wants towards Uncle Sam — attaboy, John, 'at's tellin' 'em — but when Ottawa gets tough with London, English Canadians become confused, disturbed, resentful. They don't like it, and arguing the rights of the Canadian position won't placate many to whom an attack on the Mother Country is almost sacrilegious.

It became politically important for Ottawa to patch up the quarrel, and to do so without losing face. This was achieved admirably, in meetings Heath had here last week with Prime Minister Diefenbaker, Fleming, Trade Minister Hees, Foreign Minister Green and Agriculture Minister Hamilton.

Fleming, who four months ago told Britain to choose between the Common Market sessions in superlatives: The British, he is confident, will do all they can to protect Canadian trade interests in the ECM negotiations. And Canada will co-operate — even to sending trade experts to work with the British in Brussels and provide them with "complete information on all aspects of Canadian trade interests."

This can only mean Ottawa is now willing to draw a line between Canada's vital trade interests, and those not so vital — between what must be saved and what Canada can afford to sacrifice, however unwillingly, so Britain can join the ECM.

Guinea Stays Truly Neutral, Says President

CONAKRY, Guinea (AP) — President Sekou Toure said Sunday he is determined to re-power blocs.

Speaking in the presence of Soviet Deputy Premier Anastas Mikoyan at the opening of a Russian commercial exposition, Toure asserted that while Guinea will accept aid from any country on a footing of equality, "Guinea refuses to be drawn into choosing sides in a power struggle between world blocs."

Toure's declaration came in the face of Mikoyan's obvious attempts to smooth over Soviet-Guinea relations in the sudden departure of Soviet Ambassador David Solod. Unconfirmed reports say Toure requested "the envoy's withdrawal" and connected the request with an anti-government plot.

One of Mikoyan's first official acts Saturday was to pay a courtesy call on Toure.

WILL REMAIN ALOOF

In the ceremonies opening the Soviet exposition, Toure said his country wants "relations with all nations dedicated to wiping out inequalities of living standards throughout the world, seeking co-operation with all but remaining aloof from all blocs."

Toure praised economic and cultural co-operation between Guinea and Russia as a "creative force of progress," but coupled this with a restatement of Guinean neutrality.

Earlier, Mikoyan told the crowd the Soviet Union is in the forefront of a struggle for African "liberation from the yoke of colonialism." He also praised Guinea for its role in leading Africa toward independence.

Tours is a Marxist who runs his country through a Communist-style single party and a political bureau. But in recent months he seems to have edged away from the left and become somewhat disenchanted with the Soviet Union.

Canada Interested in Food Stamps

OTTAWA (CP) — United States progress in a food stamp plan for needy families will be investigated this week-end at the Canada-U.S. committee talks on trade and economic affairs.

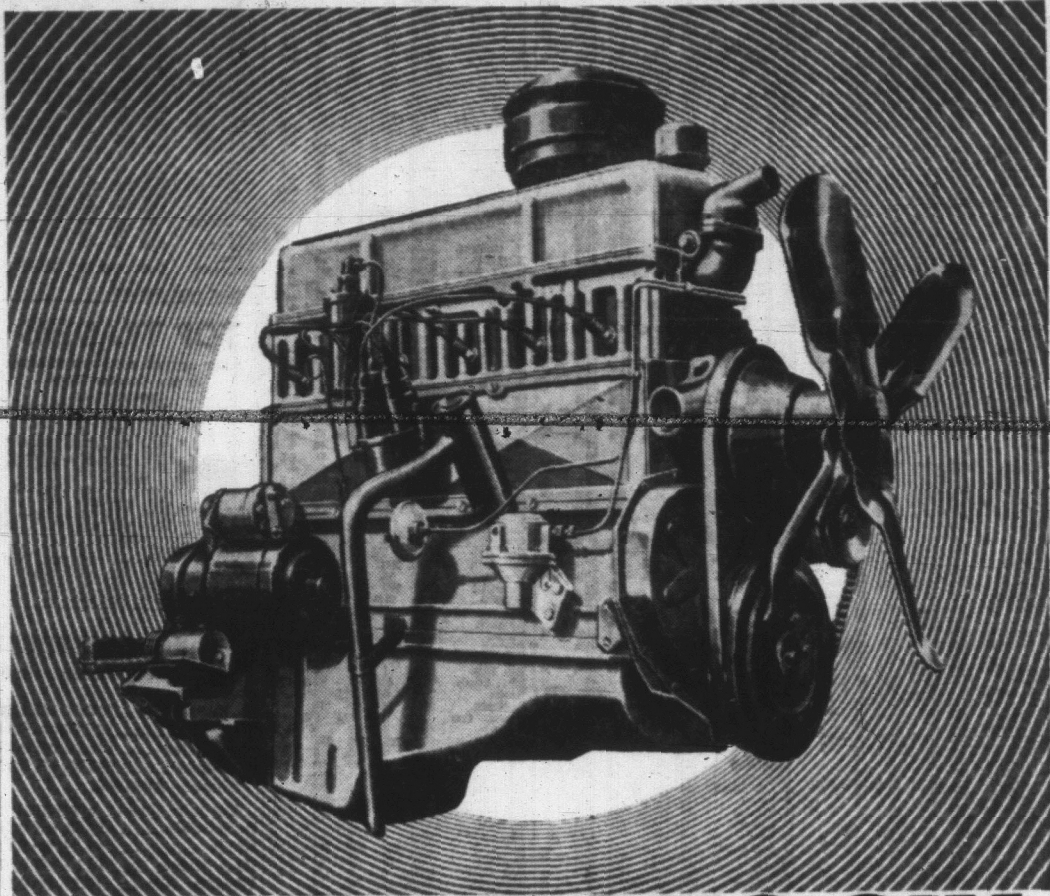

Agriculture Minister Hamilton said today he intends to quiz his counterpart, Orval Freeman, on how the U.S. pilot project is working.

The U.S. project was started in four areas, including West Virginia, Illinois and Pennsylvania, and is being expanded. Mr. Hamilton some time ago was delegated to examine the possibilities of a comparable scheme in Canada to improve the diets of legitimately-needy families who otherwise would go without the ingredients for good health.

He has had three proposals on his desk for some months, including a system of distribution using food stamps. Canadian and U.S. ministers began a two-day meeting here Friday, the first since last March in Washington and the second with members of President Kennedy's cabinet.

The problem here and in the U.S. is the same that hobbled previous attempts to parcel out a more balanced diet to needy families. It's a question of getting through to recipients without the stigma of a means test, and still avoiding abuse of the program by those who do not need any aid, Mr. Hamilton said.

The aid would include foods above and beyond those in surplus position.

The Cracked Crystal Ball

WASHINGTON (UPI) — For Christmas, Rep. Frank Thompson Jr. must have gotten one of those ballpoint pens that write on soggy tea leaves.

At any rate, something has prompted him to try his hand at fortune-telling.

The New Jersey Democrat emerged from a New Year's Eve trance with a list of predictions of things that will happen in 1962.

I can't vouch for his ability as a soothsayer, but here are some of his tongue-in-cheek forecasts for the year:

January — House of Representatives resolves leadership question by applying the "troika" principle; elects a three-man speaker representing the National Association of Manufacturers, the AFL-CIO and the League of Women Voters.

February — Goa invades India; Nehru deplores use of force as means of accomplishing national objectives. Interior Secretary Udall climbs Capitol Hill to consider turning Congress into national wildlife preserve.

March — Airlines propose capital punishment for passengers who fail to show up for flights.

April — Fidel Castro invades South America; Nehru hails move as great step in liberation of enslaved nations.

May — Bashir Ahmed, former Pakistani camel driver, travels to United States aboard private yacht and invites Texas cowboy to visit him in Pakistan.

June — Russians put 12-storey apartment house into orbit around Jupiter. House of Representatives votes to abolish Senate as punishment for passing too much legislation.

July — John Birch Society launches campaign to impeach Abraham Lincoln. Fidel Castro invades Greenland; Nehru hails move as great step in liberation of enslaved nations.

August — European Common Market applies for membership in British Commonwealth.

September — Roger Maris hits 59th home run on last day of baseball season.

October — Peace Corps volunteer in Tanganyika village sends postcard to friend in Boston, raving about wonderful living conditions; is hailed as hero by local chamber of commerce.

November — Fidel Castro announces he is really a Whig; reveals plan to incorporate Cuba.

December — Kennedy football team invited to Rose Bowl. G. Mennen Williams receives 300 polka-dot bow ties for Christmas. Noted Princeton anthropologist reveals that "Twist" originated in now-extinct African tribe as part of rain god ceremony.

Austrian Duke Dead

VIENNA (AP) — Duke Max of Hohenberg, 59, son of Archduke Franz Ferdinand, died Monday. Archduke Franz Ferdinand, pretender to the Austrian-Hungarian throne, and his wife Sophie were assassinated at Sarajevo in 1914, touching off the First World War. Max of Hohenberg did not inherit the title of archduke because his mother was not of royal blood. She was made Duchess of Hohenberg by Emperor Franz Joseph.

Barley prices showed a rallying tendency reflecting the London trend.
Rye prices were erratic.
Overnight export loadings of Canadian wheat included: United Kingdom, 545,000 bushels; Japan, 515,000 bushels; Ecuador, 225,000 bushels; Philippines, 55,000 bushels.
Class two, IWA and domestic wheat prices, basis Lakehead, were all up 1/4.

B.C. Skin Divers Seek Pay Dirt

VANCOUVER (CP)—Prospectors equipped with skin-diving gear are searching for gold along the creeks and river beds of the British Columbia interior this winter.

Scuba enthusiasts are also hoping to cash in on the underwater hunt for pay dirt in the rivers which yielded the fabulous wealth of the B.C. gold rush a century ago.

Chuck Eshom, manager of a Vancouver diving equipment store, estimates that 1,000 men are using scuba outfits for underwater prospecting during the winter months.

Many of them, he said, are prospectors who have taken skin-diving courses to enable them to tap the wealth left untouched by the thousands of sourdoughs who flocked to the province in the 1850s.

Many of B.C.'s 10,000 scuba divers also have a gold miner's pan and a leather poke to their trappings.

Gino Gemma, chairman of the B.C. Council of Skin and Lung-Diving Clubs, says the scuba gold hunt spread to B.C. from California where it became popular three years ago.

"It started in B.C. last winter and interest is growing," said Gemma, also a professional diver and manager of another Vancouver scuba equipment store.

For most divers, the gold search is a weekend sport restricted to the winter months while lower water level keeps down the speed of river currents.

Most of the activity is along the Fraser River from Hope, 100 miles east of Vancouver, about 110 miles north to Lillooet.

With a safety line secured to their waists and tied to a boulder or tree, the divers swim along the river bed, gravel into a sack.

Then they lug it ashore and wish the sand around a gold pan watching for the magic yellow flecks worth $35 an ounce.

Those who strike pay dirt must then acquire a suction pump to dredge it out of the river and a sluice box to extract the gold.

Mr. Eshom says the odds are stacked against divers who use this haphazard approach, called sniping by mining men.

He found this out last January on the Quesnel River, about 300 miles northeast of Vancouver and not far from Barkerville, a ghost town from the 1860 Cariboo gold rush. He gave up after three weeks of diving under the ice.

"There was too much cold and too little gold."

SEARCHERS SECRETIVE

A six-foot overburden of tailings dumped onto the river bed during the gold rush thwarted Mr. Eshom and his partners.

Mr. Gemma said divers who went out for gold last winter were reluctant to tell about their success.

"Prospectors, even the novices, are like the businessmen great when they are going broke and that business is poor when they're doing all right."

IT'S OFF THE AIR

Bedroom Radio Station Operated by Teen-Agers

WASHINGTON—The Federal Communication Commission has cracked down on a 13-year-old boy who, in partnership with a buddy, was operating a radio station from his bedroom.

Bruce Wahl and his friend, David Lester, 14, put their equipment together from old parts and a month ago "your neighborhood station" went on the air.

The little low-power station in nearby Falls Church, Va., operated every afternoon after school and supplied the neighbors with weather reports, news and music. It was fun, and the boys had some thoughts of getting advertising, maybe for lost dogs.

But the FCC heard about it.

A grim-looking FCC investigator, carrying electronic checking equipment, showed up. He flashed his card and inquired whether the boys were broadcasting.

Proudly, they said they were. But their faces dropped when after checking the equipment the investigator got out a book and began to read. The book, a copy of the Communications Act, told how persons operating unlicensed stations could be fined $10,000 or sent to jail for two years, maybe both.

"Boy," said Bruce afterward, "did we begin shaking like leaves!"

So now the station is off the air, and the FCC is willing to let the matter drop.

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy.

Andy will answer questions submitted by child-readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes.

The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia, and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Andy sends a complete, 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia to Ricka Connor, age 13, of East Peoria, Ill., for the question:

The word jerboa comes from the old Arabic name for a furry little rat of the desert. The mice and the rat-like rodents are usually scampers and scurriers, and it comes as a surprise to learn that the jerboa hops around like a miniature kangaroo.

There is a sizable family of true jerboas and a host of other hopping rodents that are sometimes called jerboas or gerbils.

The true jerboa and his close cousins are natives of Africa, Asia and eastern Europe. There they enjoy life in the hottest and driest of deserts. But even where the little fellows are plentiful, a jerboa is rarely seen. He spends the day dozing deep in his sandy burrow with his front door carefully hidden by a covering of loose dirt. After sundown, he comes prancing out to feed and frolic.

He rolls joyfully in the warm sand and uses his tiny hands to comb his soft, furry coat. His big, bright eyes are now used to the darkness and his huge, leafy ears have caught any sound of danger in the night. Now he is ready to show why he is called jerboa, the jumping rodent.

Food Scarce, Water Scarcer

For a moment he stands ready on his long, strong back legs with his sturdy tail stretched out behind him. Then up he goes, hopping about in two to six-foot leaps. He is but a few inches long and his tail is longer than his entire body. It ends with a bushy tuft and, besides helping him to balance when he squats on the ground, it helps him balance through his leaps. His arms are so small that he could not walk on all fours, even if he wished.

Food in the desert is scarce and the jerboa makes a living from seeds and dry grasses with perhaps an insect once in a while. He uses his tiny hands to gather his food and stuff it into his mouth. Water in the desert is even scarcer than food and the jerboa may live his whole life without a drink. Somehow he manages to get enough moisture from his food.

True jerboas share their Old World deserts with another family of jumping rodents. They are the gerbils, a name which also means jerboa, and they are very like the true jerboas. However, the gerbils do their foraging in the daytime and love to bask in the desert sun.

Australia and the Americas also have jumping rodents and these too are sometimes called jerboas. The mouse mice and rats of Australia behave somewhat like their marsupial neighbors. Our kangaroo rats and mice enjoy night life in the southwestern deserts and, like the true jerboas, they never drink water.

The kangaroo rat is about five inches tall, a seven-inch tail. This galloping ghost hops along in six to eight-foot leaps. The little kangaroo mouse weighs less than an ounce and he can spring along in 12-foot leaps which, for his size, makes him the world's champion jumper.

Andy sends a Hammond's Nature Atlas of America to Steven Jay Moshlak, age seven, of Hawthorne, Calif., for his question:

How is a butterfly born?

The story begins when Mama Butterfly lays her batch of little white eggs. The pretty 'buckeye' butterfly chooses a plantain weed, the painted lady chooses a thistle or a sunflower. Each butterfly knows just what food her babies will need and lays her eggs where they will find it.

Science Now Shrinks Piles Without Pain Or Discomfort

Finds Healing Substance That Relieves Pain And Itching As It Shrinks Hemorrhoids

Toronto, Ont. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain and itching. Thousands have been relieved with this inexpensive substance right in the privacy of their own homes without any discomfort or inconvenience.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was promptly relieved. And while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

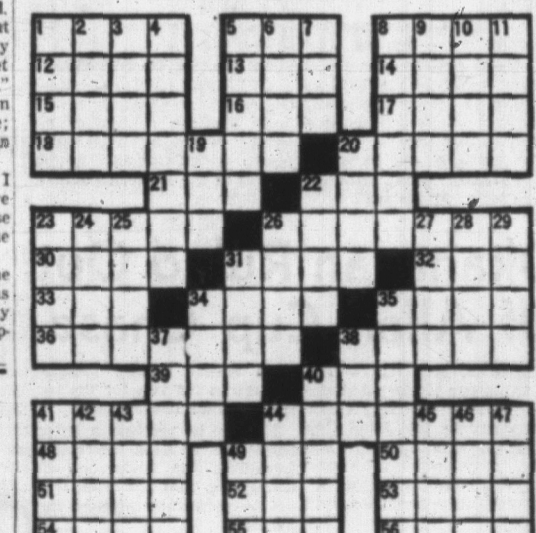

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of even 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne)—the discovery of a famous scientific institute, Kennedy-Bip-Dyne, is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug stores. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

"Expand the National Hockey League? Why? We haven't had a seat unsold in 15 years. All expansion would do is water down the league. People wouldn't come to watch. It would cost us money. Some day, perhaps. Not now."—Kenny Beardon, vice-president and general manager, Montreal Canadiens, in Victoria, September, 1961.

"I favor expansion in principle. If San Francisco and Los Angeles applied for NHL franchises tomorrow, I would vote to accept them providing they had arenas with a minimum of 12,000 seats."—John Bassett, one-third shareholder, Maple Leaf Gardens and Toronto Maple Leafs, in Victoria, December, 1961.

Beardon's attitude, expressed when Canadiens trained here last fall, follows the line that you don't tamper with a good thing. He stoutly insists that there aren't enough players of NHL calibre today to stock all six clubs let alone draining them to stock unproven franchises.

Spare Time Pursuit? More Benzy . . .

Beardon is a man of strong convictions. But his argument here is not altogether convincing. The Canadiens have been so short of talent the last few years that all they have managed is six league titles and five Stanley cups.

That Bassett differs so strongly with Beardon is not too surprising. Beardon is singularly concerned with the artistic and economic success of the Canadiens.

Bassett, once described as the "Benzedrine type," skates in many directions. He is chairman, publisher, editor of the Toronto Telegram, owns a huge chunk of the Toronto football Argonauts, ranks even with Stafford Smythe and Harold Ballard in controlling Maple Leaf Gardens and Foster Hewitt's boy scouts, and, has a firm grip on Toronto's private TV station, CFTO.

He is a man of strong opinions without being opinionated.

On NHL expansion: "It would bring the best hockey to more people. I'm a director of the Gardens yet I can't get two more good seats. I know expansion would water down the league for a period of time.

"But if each existing team put players into a pool like the American Baseball League did last year for Washington and Los Angeles we would soon come up to our present strength."

Nothing Indecent About This Exposure

Expansion and interlocking schedules are not identical, but they have a common denominator—exposure. The exposure of east to west and the reverse brought on by Canadian football's experimental interlocking in '61 impressed Bassett.

"Look what happened when we (Argos) went into Edmonton. They had 21,000 there. Best home gate Eskimos had all year."

Similarly plentiful were patrons who came to watch Montreal meet the Lions. Something like 22,000 entered Empire Stadium. Most of them came to watch the Alouettes. What the Lions were playing then hardly passed for football.

Bassett admitted that expansion has not been one of the hottest topics among the NHL voting fraternity. He declined to be drawn into controversy with Beardon—"he has his opinion, I have mine"—but added that so far "as I know neither Los Angeles nor San Francisco has applied for an NHL franchise."

Bassett was decidedly unimpressed with criticism levelled at the NHL over the George Hayes affair. A linesman, Hayes was rapped briskly across the knuckles for riding day coaches and pocketing the difference instead of getting his sleep in pullmans as the NHL prefers. Critics have shafted the rich NHL for paying its officials so little they must resort to money-saving devices.

Said Bassett: "This is the first time I heard they were underpaid. If they want more, let them ask for more."

Hornung, Indeed! Didn't Sammy Run?

He felt that NHL president Clarence Campbell had dealt "in the best way" with Detroit's outspoken Jack Adams. The latter had thrown some fancy and blue-toned words at referee-in-chief Carl Voss over the work of Eddie Powers.

Instead of fining Adams, Campbell said that Adams' outburst had shown him "for the man he is."

"So Campbell could have fined Adams," said Bassett. "What would a $300 fine mean? But to humiliate him publicly."

On most points it is difficult to disagree with Mr. Bassett. There was even an inclination to rank him highly as a sports seer when he predicted (this was before the game) that the New York Giants would win the professional football title "by at least a touchdown." After what Green Bay did to him (and others I know) his ranking is somewhat shaky.

Speaking of that game recalls the post-contest luncheon in New York at which Green's Bay's Paul Hornung was given a car as the most outstanding player.

New York's Sam Huff, asked for his two cents worth, said: "You've selected the wrong man. Everybody, even Paul knows, I did the most for Green Bay. I never got in their way all afternoon."

Ford Frick Insists Furillo's Off Base

NEW YORK (AP)—Commissioner Ford Frick and New York Mets of the National League said Monday Cary Furillo was off base for claiming he is being blacklisted by all major league teams.

"There is no such thing as a baseball blacklist," Frick said. "The only time I received an appeal from Furillo was 18 months ago. He wanted to receive his salary from the Dodgers after they sent him to Spokane and he refused to report. I turned down the appeal."

Furillo charged Sunday he was being victimized by the Dodgers in a dispute over being sent to the Pacific Coast League in 1959. He said he had written personal letters to manager Casey Stengel and general manager George Weiss and appealed to Frick and Sen. Estes Kefauver after being turned down for a job as a player, coach and scout by every big league club since the close of the 1961 season.

Furillo also said the Mets had hired four new scouts after he received a letter from Weiss in which he wrote "we have enough players and our organization is filled up."

"We reserve the right to hire our own personnel," Mets' spokesman said.

APPOINTED manager of Toronto Maple Leafs of International Baseball League is Charlie Dressen, former pilot of Milwaukee Braves, with whom Leafs have working agreement.

Small Portland Crowd Sees North Stars Win

PORTLAND (CP)—A free-wheeling band of Northern division players, paced by Guyle Fielder, Phil Maloney and Doug Barkley, won the fifth Western Hockey League all-star game in a romp.

Fielder, only player to see action in all five WHL all-star games, scored twice and assisted once; Maloney scored twice and Barkley once as the northern crew whipped the south's best 7-3 before 4,121 fans in Memorial Coliseum Monday night.

Barkley, 25, a Calgary Stampeder defenceman in his fifth year of pro hockey, took frequent extra turns on the ice because the north's defence was cut to three men when teammate Fred Hucul broke a finger in a Calgary game last Saturday. Barkley was so effective he was voted the game's outstanding player.

Fielder, 30, Seattle Totems' centre and the WHL's all-time point-getting champion with more than 900, and Maloney, the Vancouver Canucks' playing coach, had to be ranked close seconds.

Fielder's Seattle teammates, Ed Ehrenverth, Bill MacFarland and Ron Hutchinson, each scored once for the north.

England Scores Exciting Victory

BAGALORE (Reuters)—The Marylebone Cricket Club of England won one of the most exciting matches of its cricket tour of India here Monday when it beat South Zone by 37 runs with 40 minutes to spare.

Declaring its second innings at 192 for two, MCC set South Zone to get 254 in 4½ hours for victory—a rate just over 56 an hour.

TWO INDIANS SIGN

CLEVELAND (AP)—Cleveland Indians have announced that catcher John Romano and third baseman Bubba Phillips have signed 1962 American League contracts.

Doug Macauley of Portland Buckaroos, Max Meklik of Spokane Comets and Gerry Goyer of Los Angeles Blades, the league's highest scorer this season, scored for the south.

Only four penalties were called.

ONLY DISAPPOINTMENT

The only disappointment was the crowd, little more than half the average turnout to WHL games at the 10,000-seat Coliseum. But Portland manager Harry Glickman said the profit — it goes into the players' benefit fund — probably will be one of the largest of any WHL all-star game.

Goalender Bruce Gamble of Portland, in the south nets stopped 32 shots while Claude Evans of Vancouver blocked 25 for the north.

The north scored three unanswered third-period goals after leading 2-1 in the first period and 4-3 in the second.

Paper Says Floyd Will Fight Liston

NEW YORK (AP)—Floyd Patterson has until Sunday to decide whether to defend his world heavyweight title against Sonny Liston during the first week of March, sports editor Dan Parker of the New York Daily Mirror says in his column.

Patterson and Liston would meet in Miami Beach Convention Hall under the auspices of Championship Sports, Incorporated, with the bout to be carried on closed circuit television to theatres in the U.S. and Canada, Parker says.

Parker reports that Patterson would decide on the bout, and that his manager Gus D'Amato would have to go along with the idea if he wanted to collect his manager's fee.

The champion is reported eager for the match but worried about getting into shape in time, which is regarded as whistling in the dark by many who know him to be constantly in training.

The house would be sealed for a $790,000 gross, with top prices set at $150 a seat.

The swish, swish, swish of badminton rackets can be heard all over Greater Victoria this week.

Next week the swingers get serious in the city's annual badminton championships starting Monday at Victoria Lawn Tennis and Badminton Club's Amphion Street courts.

An increase in the number of badminton clubs in the city leads tournament officials to anticipate a record entry.

This year the customary handicap events will be replaced by B and C flights. Players eliminated in the first round will drop into C competition. Second-round drop-outs will begin B flight play, thus assuring each player a minimum of two games in each event.

The previous record moose had a spread of 65½ inches. It was shot in 1947 by Dytton A. Gilliland on Alaska's Kenai Peninsula.

The giant moose killed by Kleinberger was found last the next morning and Kleinberger brought it down with a model-70 Winchester using a 300 magnum load.

The head, which weighed about 80 pounds, was brought out that day. Brandt and a fellow pilot returned with two planes three days later and flew out about 800 pounds of moose steaks and roasts.

CONSISTENT Ed Varga, one of Vancouver Island Amateur Hockey League's most prominent scorers, will command attention tonight at 7:30 when he skates for IAA against Navy in first game of double-header at Memorial Arena. Nainimo meets witness Port Alberni at 9.

SNODGRASS TO OTTAWA OTTAWA (UPI)—Mike Snodgrass, an offensive centre from Western Michigan University, has signed a 1962 contract with Ottawa Rough Riders of the Eastern Football Conference.

Previously announced among those due to take turns on skates were Ted Lindsay, Doug and Max Bentley, Bill Mosienko, Neil and Mac Colville, Alex Shibicky, Babe Pratt and Clint Smith.

HALL OF FAMERS

Johnson, Taylor, Fredrickson, Keats, Foyston and Schmidt have been voted into the Hockey Hall of Fame. Schmidt and Bauer, two members of Boston's famous "Kraut Line," will be playing together, but Woody Dumart, third member of the high-scoring unit, will be unable to attend.

Rookie Wraps Up $45,000 LA Open

Phil Rodgers
Collects $7,500,
Leonard 16th

LOS ANGELES (CP)—A rookie with only six months seasoning on golf's tough tournament trail captured the $45,000 Los Angeles Open Monday, turning back a corps of veterans with a record nine-under-par 62 on the final round.

The victory went to Phil Rodgers, 23, of La Jolla, Calif., whose brilliant windup gave him a 268, another record for the tournament, and a nine-stroke edge over his closest rivals. He won $7,500.

It was the widest margin of victory on the money tour since Mike Souchak piled up the same score over Billy Casper and Doug Ford in Michigan's Motor City Open in 1959.

The final round by Rodgers of 63 set by Tommy Bolt in 1956 and matched by Ken Venturi in 1969. The 268 erased the 72-hole score of 272 established by Lloyd Mangrum when he won the event in 1956.

Stan Leonard of Vancouver led Canadian entrants with a final-round 69, good for 182. He ended up in 16th place and won $900. Al Balding of Toronto fired a 71 Monday and finished in 36th place at 287. He won $155.

TIE FOR SECOND

George Knudson of Toronto picked up $11,43, shooting a 71 for a 288 total and 42nd place.

Fred Hawkins and defending champion Bob Goalby were deadlocked for second spot at 277. They each pocketed $3,325. Jackie Burke was fourth with 278. Hawkins had a 71 on the last 18 holes. Goalby carded a 69 and Burke 68.

Rodgers stunned his opponents and surprised a gallery of about 12,000 with magnificent play, especially his short game on the Rancho Golf Club, with its par 36-35-71. He consistently canned six and seven-foot putts, and one from 40 feet out. Rodgers had rounds of 67-71-68-62 for the four days. He had nine-hole scores of 32-30 Monday.

PLAYER FAR BACK

Such big-name players as Arnold Palmer and Gary Player were well back. Palmer had 283 for $825; Player 287 for $155.

Jack Nicklaus, 1961 United States amateur king making his pro debut, carded 289 for $33.33.

Rodgers' previous fame was limited. He won the Collegiate championship in 1958 at the University of Houston. He was low amateur in the Los Angeles Open in 1960. Last year he won the Mexican Open in Mexico City and the Sahara Pro-Amateur at Las Vegas, Nev.

Okanagan Ruled Out Of Allan Cup Chase

VERNON, B.C. (CP)—The B.C. Amateur Hockey Association has ruled out Okanagan players in the run for the national senior hockey title.

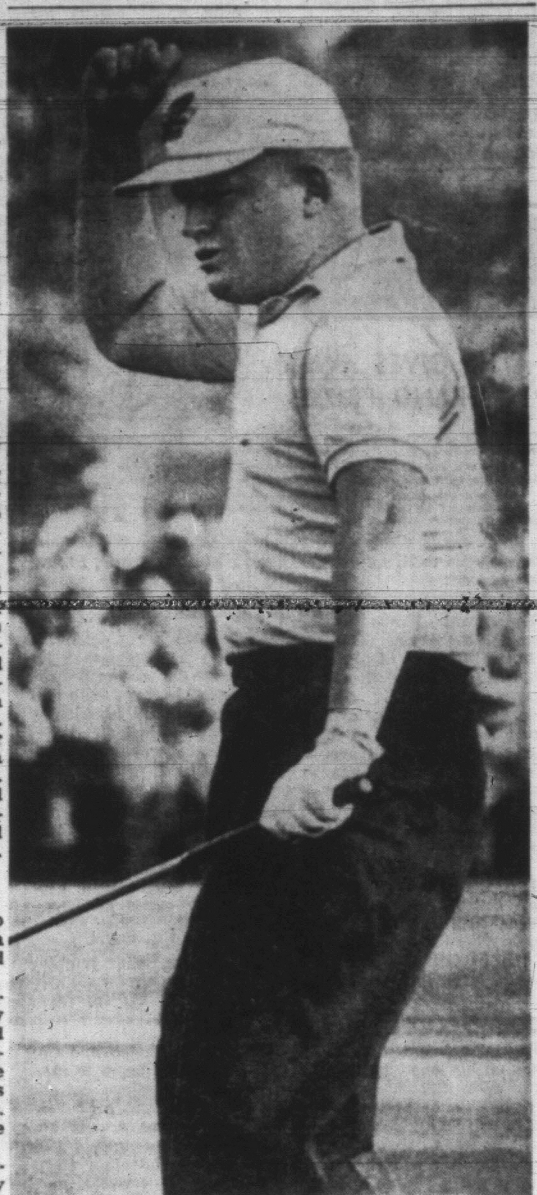

He said he received a letter from the BCHA secretary-treasurer, Jim Anderson, advising him that the team will not be permitted to enter the playoffs.

The OSHL disbanded last fall because attendance at league games had dwindled to where operations could not be financed.

Love planned to gather players from Vernon, Kamloops, Kelowna and Penticton, which made up the old OSHL, and have them play exhibition games until the Allan Cup chase started.

He said Anderson's letter gave no reason for the decision against the plan.

"We're disappointed and would like to know the reason for the BCHA decision," he said. "I honestly believe we had a good chance of going the limit and re-establishing the OSHL."

Kraut Line Aces Join Oldtimers

The list of stars continues to grow for the "Oldtimers' Hockey Night" that will mark the 50th anniversary of the first hockey game ever played on artificial ice and launch the sports portion of the city's centennial celebrations.

Joining the array of former greats of the puck pastime for the game at Memorial Arena Jan. 27, are three more National Hockey League aces of post-war years — Milt Schmidt, Bobby Bauer and Tony Leswick.

From the more distant past will come Frank Foyston, who played centre with Victoria Cougars when the Cats won the Stanley Cup in 1925.

MADE HISTORY

Also expected are Walter Small, Ernie "Moose" Johnson and Skinner Poulin, who played in a history-making game in Victoria on Jan. 2, 1912, when Westminister and Victoria played the first game on artificial ice.

NFL LIKES ROZELLE— AT $50,000 PER YEAR

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Pete Rozelle, a compromise choice as commissioner of the National Football League after a stormy two-week session in 1960, was re-elected by unanimous vote Monday for a five-year term at $50,000 a year.

PETE ROZELLE
... cool quarter-million

Rozelle, 35, moved up from his job as general manager of the Los Angeles Rams to succeed the late Bert Bell after a prolonged battle involving 25 ballots. The original three-year contract would have expired in January, 1963, but the league club owners gave him a new five-year term as an expression of confidence.

Rozelle said he hopes the new $9,000,000 plus television contract with a single network would be completed at the meeting.

One of the main problems facing the league is the $10,000,000 civil anti-trust suit brought by the rival American Football League that is scheduled to be heard Feb. 19 in Baltimore. Rozelle estimated the legal costs to the league already were about $200,000.

SEASON HIGH HIT

NFL Averaged 40,600 in '61

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Booming National Football League attendance hit a record high of 3,986,150 in 1961 with an average crowd of 40,614 at each of 98 regular-season games.

"We are enthusiastic about the general balance of our attendance," commissioner Pete Rozelle said Monday.

"From 1952 to 1959, Los Angeles was very successful with big crowds of 70,000 and 75,000 accounting for a good share of our attendance. Although the Rams were not utilizing their biggest stadium in the league to full capacity, our attendance still went up. That is a healthy trend. We are sorry we missed by only 14,000 from hitting the 4,000,000 mark."

Jim Kensil, league public relations chief, did not give club breakdowns when he released attendance figures. He said the average crowd in 1961 was 40,615 compared with 40,108 in 1960.

Unofficial Associated Press figures show Cleveland led the league with 426,886, followed by New York with 423,949 and Philadelphia with 412,318. The largest single turnout was 80,455 at Cleveland for the Browns' Nov. 26 game with New York Giants.

After negotiating a CBS television deal calling for more than $9,000,000 over a two-year period, Rozelle suffered a setback last summer when a federal judge ruled the pact in violation of United States anti-trust laws. Rozelle then led a battle that ended with the U.S. Congress approving single-network deals for pro football, baseball, basketball and hockey.

Maris Repeats As Swat Sultan

BALTIMORE (AP)—Roger Maris, 1961 home run king of major league baseball, has been named the first repeat winner of the "sultan of swat" award.

The New York Yankee slugger, who clouted 61 home runs in the American League last season, will be presented with the $2,000 jeweled crown at the annual Top in Sports Banquet here next Monday.

The award is given by the banquet sponsors, the Maryland Professional Baseball Players Association.

Five Scoring Aces Help Springfield

NEW YORK (AP)—Springfield Indians, with an eight-point bulge in the Eastern Division of the American Hockey League, have five of the league's top 11 scorers this season.

Marshall and Kilrea have 49 points apiece—Marshall 21 goals and 28 assists and Kilrea 11 goals and 38 assists. Bobby Perreault of Hershey is the leading goaltender with a 2.53 goals-against average.

Britain Has Radical Plan To Woo Back Soccer Fan

LONDON (Reuters)—Britain's soccer men have drawn up a revolutionary plan to reorganize the country's national sport in an effort to win back fans.

Backbone of the plan is addition of an extra division to the four league circuits now in existence.

No official announcement has been made but sources say the main point of the reorganization will be to have five divisions of 20 teams each, with the fourth and lowest division being split into two regional sections of 20 clubs each.

There now are four divisions, with 22 teams in the first and second, and 24 teams in the third and fourth.

Although the strongest clubs generally congregate in the top divisions, many leading stars prefer to play within their home towns or smaller teams in the lower divisions.

HAVE BETTER CHANCE

The new plan also will give ambitious lower division teams more of a chance to reach the big time.

The bottom four teams in the first, second and third divisions each will drop a division at the end of the season. Their places will be taken by the top four teams in the second and third and two teams from each of the fourth divisions.

Currently, only the bottom two clubs in each division are dropped a rung.

The league will be filled out by admitting eight new teams. Many towns that have grown in size during the last decade have been knocking at the door for admission to the league and there will be stiff competition for the new places.

The season will be lengthened, if necessary, by an extra five weeks. Competition will take place from early August to early June.

ALLOWS FLEXIBILITY

In another important move, the plan will allow more freedom for clubs to play in various European competitions.

The new plan was considered by the league's management committee last week.

OB RUSSY PRACTICE

Practice session for the Oak Bay Police intermediate rugby team has been scheduled for tonight at Windsor Park, starting at 7.

Police Toss Rocks In Chase for Title

Playoff time is just a week away for curling members of the Victoria City, Esquimalt, Vancouver Island's police forces.

Rock-tossing officers will compete Jan. 17-18 in the fifth annual bonspiel of the Victoria Zone of the Associated Police Curling Club of B.C. The bonspiel will decide a zone champion to represent the Island in provincial police playoffs, scheduled this year at Burnaby, Feb. 12-13.

Winner at Burnaby will advance to the Canadian playoff at Lethbridge in March.

THREE EVENTS
Defending the Island crown will be a Duncan RCMP rink, which was skipped last year by Cpl. M. Low. Also seeking the title will be quartets from the Victoria City, Esquimalt, Saanich and Oak Bay police forces and RCMP representatives from Victoria and Upland centres.

Three events will be contested in the Island "spiel," in which the top award will be the Saanich Police Memorial Trophy.

games over the last five years has dropped by nearly 5,000,000 and the plan is an attempt to draw the fans back.

Opposition to the extension may come from other sports, however.

Billy Griffith, secretary-designate at the Marylebone Cricket Club, Britain's national cricket body, has said the longer season would have a "most serious affect on cricket" by impinging on its season.

British track and field chief Jack Crump has declared that the soccer season already is too long.

"We shall have to think seriously about extending our own season," he said.

MCC Prestige Hit By Strenuous Tour

BANGALORE, India (Reuters)—The Marylebone Cricket Club's five-month tour of India, Pakistan and Ceylon, India, Pakistan and Ceylon, is nearing its final stretch and though the English tourists have attracted huge crowds, few of the players have enhanced their reputations.

After this week's fifth test against India, which England must win to square the series, the touring team returns to Pakistan for two tests and one other game, before paying a brief visit to Ceylon.

This tour is recognized as being by far the most arduous for English cricketers. The mental and physical weariness incurred by the ceaseless, cross-country of the vast Indian continent, with its torrid climate and strange food.

Indian and Pakistani cricketers, it has long been recognized, approach cricket differently from other Commonwealth cricketers. Occupation of the crease is all-important to the eastern cricketer nowadays.

Yet, the average cricket follower in India and Pakistan does not appear to mind if the matches he watches consistently end in draws. Nowhere else in the world currently does cricket draw larger crowds.

The first 12 matches of MCC's visit were watched by more than 1,000,000 persons—more than the number of paying spectators for the whole of the 1961 English domestic season.

SEALS BUY HALEY
EDMONTON, Ore. (CP)—Edmonton Flyers have sold forward Le Haley to San Francisco Seals for cash and an option on an unidentified player, manager-coach Bud Poole of the Edmonton Western Hockey League team said Monday night. The deal was made as executives of the league's eight teams gathered here for the WHL all-star game and a directors' meeting today.

GROUND PAVED
Exact figures are difficult to compile because several grounds do not have turnstiles, but more than 500,000 people watched the test matches played in Lahore against Pakistan and in Bombay and Kanpur against India. The New Delhi and Calcutta grounds were also packed for the tests.

The final over-all attendance for the entire tour could well be more than 2,000,000.

The 104-foot Empress—floating "palace" for three.

A SKIPPER, HIS WIFE AND A SEASICK POOCH RATTLE AROUND YACHT

Causeway watchers who have been idly wondering what convention arrived in town aboard the 104-foot, rooey Portland yacht Empress, moored at the CPR Wharf in Inner Harbor, may be surprised to learn her entire manifest lists two people and a dog.

Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Hockensmith are captain, mate, engineer, cook, crew and passengers aboard a vessel which boasts 11 staterooms and bunks for 22.

The duties of Penny, their brown and white Shetland dog, have not been clearly defined, but she acts as a combined court jester and straw boss aboard the ship. She also has been known to get slightly seasick.

The big yacht, a converted coast guard cutter, has been home to the Hockensmiths since the day they became tired of rush hour traffic and looking at the house across the street.

A prosperous trailer park in Redwood, Calif., which is operated by a manager in their absence, enables them to indulge in the sea-roving type of life they enjoy.

They aren't often rattling around alone on this big craft, usually packing assorted guests aboard, as they did for a leisurely 50-day voyage in Alaskan waters last year.

This spring and summer they plan to shuttle back and forth between Seattle and its Century 21 activities and the comparative quiet of Victoria.

"Victoria is as friendly a place as a boatowner could visit," says Mr. Hockensmith.

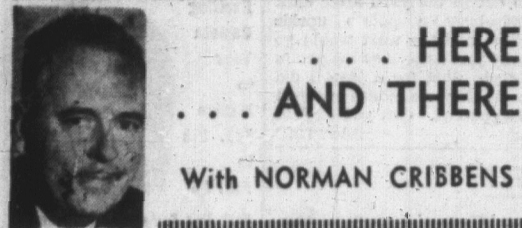

They will leave Victoria Friday for the San Juan Islands.

... HERE ... AND THERE

With NORMAN CRIBBENS

Victoria merchants are the meanest in the world, says a local commentator. If they make a little profit, they sit on their assets and make sure that not a penny of it goes to the future of the city.

"Talk about Scrooges—this is a city of Scrooges," he said.

True, the man was a little worked up. He was upset because city merchants had not responded to the appeal for preservation of Victoria's 30-year-old Spring Garden Festival.

For lack of support, the festival is to be washed out this Centennial Year.

Home in Victoria after many years in London, Jon Farrell started waiters in a local beer parlor by asking them to warm his beer.

Obligingly, they placed his bottle in a hot water tub—and left it there.

By the time he got it, the beer was as hot as—the way they drink it in England.

Jon has been on the stage over in London and had the distinction of being knocked down every night by Van Johnson in the comedy, Muscle Man, at the Adelphi Theatre.

The last time Van Johnson knocked him down he got "tennis elbow," so Jon is happy to relax in Victoria at the home of his mother, Mrs. B. A. Farrell, at 904 McClure.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. (Bill) Ward, 2451 Beresford, loaned us their singing canaries while they spent the New Year in Vancouver.

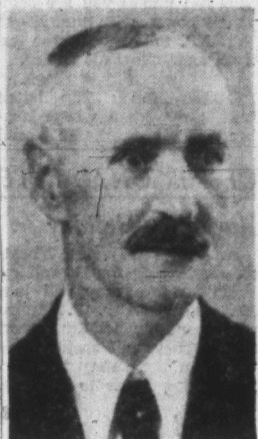

The birds sang gloriously with radio and phonograph, but shut down completely when I played them a record of assorted American songbirds.

Said one of our local naturalists:

"Of course, they wouldn't sing with those sort of birds!"

Mrs. Doris Danes has taken over the duties vacated recently by Mrs. Charles Dagmar Cameron on her retirement from Victoria Courthouse. She will officiate as clerk to the Small Debts Court and as secretary to the registry of the Court of Appeal.

Mrs. Margaret Salt will continue as secretary to the judges of the Appeal Court—a position she has held for 32 years.

Former Gardener At Butchart's Dies Here at 88

Hugh Lindsay, a former headgardener for Butchart's Garden who played a major part in planning and developing the famous beauty spot in its early stages, died here today. He was 88.

Born in Greenock, Scotland, he was a resident of Victoria for the past 51 years.

Mr. Lindsay is survived by a daughter, Mrs. C. Bellfrage, one son, Robert Lindsay, both of Victoria, and two granddaughters, Shirley Jean and Joan.

Funeral services will be held Thursday at Thomson and Irving funeral chapel, starting at 2 p.m.

Jaycees Sued Over Raffle On Cruiser

The Jaycees' Victoria Exhibition Society is being sued by a Vancouver lottery operator over profits from a cabin cruiser raffle at last year's Jaycee Fair here.

A hearing, for which three days have been set aside on the court calendar, is scheduled to open in Supreme Court Wednesday morning before a judge still to be appointed.

James Meyer, Vancouver operator of Exhibition Advertising Enterprises Ltd. and Western Fairs Services Ltd., claims a breach of contract by the Jaycees in relation to their fair last summer.

SHOULD HAVE

He seeks damages to the amount of profit his company would have done if he had conducted the boat lottery, which they should have done according to his interpretation of the contract.

The exhibition society and the two companies contracted in February of 1958 to conduct model home lotteries for 1958, 1959, and 1960. Jaycee fairs, club counsel Don Anderson said.

The plaintiff claims the contract was intended to cover not only the model home lotteries but any others as well.

CAR EXEMPTED

Only a door prize—a new car—was exempted, it is claimed.

But Jaycees conducted their own lottery for the cabin cruiser offered last year.

Mr. Anderson said the principle is that the Jaycees' hands would be tied for future fairs if it is decided the contract applies to all but the door prize lottery. It would mean, he said, that Mr. Meyer would be given first option on any other lottery.

If such is the case, the Jaycees could allege fraudulent misrepresentation, the lawyer said, explaining that the contract was drawn by and outlined by Mr. Meyer to members of the Jaycee organization.

Flames Mistaken For Boat Lights In Island Tragedy

A San Juan Island hotel man said today he saw flames that he mistook for boat lights on Boxing Day, but at the time thought nothing of it.

Roche Harbor hotel keeper R. J. Tarte said he took the glare he saw to be from a passing fish boat's deck lights.

"I feel terrible about it. If I had got a boat and gone to see what it was I might have been able to save some of them. Normally I would have investigated, but at the time I just didn't think it was a fire," Tarte said.

The eight members of the James Hendon family apparently were all lost when their 16-foot open dory caught fire and burned to the waterline.

Only one body—not yet identified positively—has been recovered. It is believed to be that of the youngest Hendon, Jeffrey, 10 months, and was found on the beach at Margaret Bay at Gordon Head, on Dec. 28.

Murphy Plans to Catch Up On Lagging Road Planning

More extensive planning and public works programs were urged on Saanich council Monday night by Reeve Stanley

Murphy in his inaugural address.

Warning council that Saanich is falling behind in its public works projects, the reeve said the program for the reconstruction of secondary roads should be doubled this year.

Saanich in 1961 spent $25,000 on secondary roads, such as Interurban and Ash Roads.

The reeve also urged expansion of the reconstruction program for major roads such as Richmond, Shelbourne, Burnside, Cedar Hill and Cedar Hill Cross Roads.

In the past, Saanich has been spending $80,000 annually on major road projects.

UP TO $30,000

He also suggested that the annual budget for the construction of sidewalks near schools and along major roads be increased from $9,000 to $30,000.

Other objectives suggested by the reeve were:

1. Preparation of a detailed community plan for the area between Shelbourne and Quadra, followed by a community plan for the Cordova Bay area.

2. Preparation of a plan for the area surrounding the new University of Victoria campus at Gordon Head.

3. Establishment of a large area for warehouses.

4. Expansion of the municipality's street lighting program.

5. Further land acquisition for parks and development of existing parks.

SANITATION PLAN

The reeve also recommended the preparation of a plan to solve the sanitation problem in the Colquitz Creek watershed.

This area is becoming a serious problem to council. Some subdivisions in this district have sewer systems and others have not.

The reeve felt an increase in zoning and planning problems will necessitate an increase in the planning department staff.

He cited as an example the proposed relocation of the Patricia Bay Highway.

Once this takes place, he said, there will have to be an immediate study of the areas affected in order to protect existing residential properties. The relocation would also affect a portion of the existing municipal road plan.

The reeve also said no time should be lost in starting the proposed new health and welfare building.

Remanded until Wednesday on the same nine charges faced by Corkill was Barry Mills, 17, Metchoin Road.

New Law to Hit Trading Stamps

Legislate as Far As We Can—Bonner

By FRANK BUTTER

The B.C. government plans new legislation this year to wipe out supermarket promotion gimmicks which skate around existing trading stamp laws, Attorney-General Robert Bonner said today.

He called a press conference to announce he has set two departmental solicitors the task of drawing up the legislation.

It is aimed at the premium stamp schemes which started last week in two B.C. supermarket chains—Shop-Easy and Super-Valu—and which a third, Loblaws, plans to begin shortly.

Mr. Bonner said these schemes have been found legal under existing laws—the federal Criminal Code and B.C.'s Trading Stamp Act of 1960.

"We intend to legislate just as far as we can to preclude the spread of this type of thing."

"We're going to try to introduce it at this session," said Mr. Bonner.

The session opens Jan. 25. After a report Monday that the government felt it had gone as far as it could without treading on the toes of the Criminal Code, Mr. Bonner said today he and his cabinet colleagues had agreed "to go just as far as and as fast as we can."

There was a cabinet meeting Monday afternoon. Mr. Bonner said he was sure of the support of the legislature and that a number of "responsible" food merchants are also strongly opposed to the stamp schemes.

He said letters he has received are six-to-one against them.

If they spread, he said, the result would be "chaotic merchandising."

2% INCREASE

Another result would be a 2 per cent increase in gross costs. Food prices would reflect this increase within six months, he said.

In some U.S. supermarkets where trading stamps are legal "it is more like buying wallop per than groceries," said Mr. Bonner.

He said an investigation into the Shop-Easy and Super-Valu schemes showed they were within the law at present.

Existing laws prohibit any third party to the trading stamp scheme, and the B.C. stores are clear there.

The stores also are handing out stamps—they call them "gift stamps" which are outside the federal definition of a "trading stamp."

Mr. Bonner said B.C. does not want to go beyond its constitutional power and trespass on the Criminal Code, and this would be a tricky problem in drawing up a new law, but he appeared confident an effective formula could be found.

CHAOS IN MARKET

Meanwhile in Vancouver the Retail Merchants' Association said that introduction of trading stamps will lead to "chaos in the market place" and called on the provincial government to put an end to the practice.

In a statement sent to Attorney-General Bonner, with copies to CCF-NDP Opposition Leader Strachan and Liberal Leader Perrault, the association said it appeared the chains had devised a method of getting "around the law."

Revamped Plan On Committees Tested Next Week

First test for Mayor R. B. Wilson's experiment in revamping city council's standing committees will come next week.

Committee B, concerned mainly with physical works, will meet Tuesday at 9:30 a.m. Committee A, concerned mainly with finance and administration, will meet Thursday at 9:30 a.m.

Both committees will have five members, including the mayor, who will do double duty by sitting in as a member of both.

The new system replaces the arrangement which saw three three-man committees divide up the work.

It is hoped council's workload will be reduced by the new arrangement because a majority of council will be involved in recommending policy at the committee level.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Firing practice times at Albert Head and Mary Hill were announced today for units of the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry Depot Corps.

The grenade range at Albert Head was to be used from 12:30 to 3:30 p.m. today, and 8 to 11:30 a.m. Thursday.

Practice rounds will be fired from a 3.5 rocket launcher at Mary Hill, 12:30 to 3:30 p.m. Thursday and 12:30 to 3 p.m. Friday.

Three color movies will make up the free film showing to be held in the Public Library, Wednesday, at 3 p.m. They are: Out of a Chinese Painting Brush, You'll Take the High Road, and Mural.

Floyd Adams, 4205 Glenford, was fined $75 in Esquimalt police court Monday after being convicted of a charge of assault causing actual bodily harm to Norman Richards.

Adams pleaded not guilty.

Court was told the assault occurred after a dance at the dockyard recreational hall, Admirals Road, Dec. 16. Richards suffered a broken cheek bone.

A special meeting next week will try to get the $1,115,000 civic parking garages project "back on the tracks," Ald. Michael Griffin said today.

Meeting Tuesday night in a closed session will be the city parking committee and the Downtown Business Association.

"We will hold a general discussion on the whole plan," said Ald. Griffin.

Among items for discussion will be advisability of proceeding with construction of one or both the 200-car and 400-car garages or whether surface parking lots should be developed on the sites first to test demand for parking in the selected areas.

Final arguments in a preliminary hearing of a charge of theft of a bull against two men will be heard Jan. 18 in RCMP court.

Charged in connection with the Oct. 9 slaughter of a 17-month-old Hereford are Robert Simpson, 344 Niagara, and Hector Reid, Glen Lake.

Remains of the animal, after butchering, were found on the farm of its owner, William Bremner-Smith, East Sooke.

ASK THE TIMES

Q. I have recently been called a "nun of Kent." Since I don't even come from England, is this a compliment or not? R.F.J.

A. Probably not, but it has little to do with your place of origin. Elizabeth Barton (1566-1534), known as the Maid or Nun of Kent, was a domestic servant subject to trances during which she uttered prophecies which she attributed to religious inspiration. In 1536 she was admitted as a nun to St. Sepulchre's convent, Canterbury, at the instigation of a monk of Canterbury, Edward Boking, who enlisted her powers against the Roman Catholic Church. She attracted many pilgrims and was believed to have been in direct communication with the Virgin Mary. But her prophecies that Henry VIII would die a month after divorcing Catherine of Aragon to marry Anne Boleyn were not borne out and she was executed at Tyburn for treason in continuing to urge the king to abandon his second wife. Others implicated in the affairs of the maid were Fisher, bishop of Rochester, and Sir Thomas More.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to The Times, addressed to "Ask the Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve conundrums or legal problems. Nor will it attempt to put a value on antiques, stamps or antiques. These should be submitted to a dealer.

United Nations Project Explained to Council

Food shortage is a disaster, not only to the unfortunate involved, but also to the area or country which they represent. Where there is a food shortage there is most often an equipment shortage, too.

This was the basic fact presented by Donald Buchanan of the National Film Board at a meeting of Local Council of Women, Monday afternoon in the Public Library Music Room. His subject was the Freedom From Hunger project.

"Purpose of the campaign is not to solicit funds as is commonly thought," he explained, "but to educate the public by making them aware of the needs."

Food from Hunger is a United Nations project based on lines of the Colombo Plan, speaker.

Main difference is that it concentrates on agriculture. Industrial and agricultural representatives are sent to depressed areas where there is lack of development, Mr. Buchanan explained. They advise on methods of improvement.

These areas, or countries, in turn, send people to work with agriculturists in the western world in an effort to gain knowledge that can be applied to the situation in their homeland.

In many cases, even bare essentials, such as hoes and rakes, are lacking, and these are requisitioned according to the area's needs.

Discussion followed Mr. Buchanan's talk.

Dr. Marion Sherman, council president, thanked him on lines of the Colombo Plan.

New Light-Weight Fabric Tops for Undergarments

By PENNY SAVER

Need a lift? So often we forget the advantages of good posture and the right foundation garment. Many women shudder at the thought of a girdle, not realizing that it is possible to get a good fit and be comfortable.

Latest in foundation garments are made of a new material called Lycra. It's light in weight, soft and sheer, yet strong. Should be washed by hand for longest wear, but can be machine dried. Sounds worth looking into, doesn't it?

This line of girdles features reinforced stitching at the garter. Centre front has fagot stitching. Small, medium and large the standard model sells for $7.95. In black it is $8.50. Panty girdles of same material, with long legs reaching part way down the thigh are $10.95 in white, and $11.50 in black. Short leg is $8.95 and $9.50.

This material is being used in the manufacture of brassieres, too. They have all-Lycra bands, nylon stiffened up-lift, lace cup top and elastic between the strap and under-arm. They are exceptionally well cut and made to last. Adjustable straps have locking feature that eliminates possible slip-ups. In sizes 32 to 36, A, B and C cup, they are $5.95.

Satin bras also have Lycra bands. They're elasticized under the cup, have a satin uplift and a lace cup top. The back of the straps are elastic and they have the adjustable lock, too. Price? Only $4.95.

and double stitch at the corners. This added piece of fabric under the pocket will do wonders in preventing the pocket tears.

As to replacing buttons: May I suggest you sew them on with a shank; in other words not too tight or close to the garment. I would use button hole twist for sewing on these buttons, or else heavy-duty thread. Many of our readers have also suggested using elastic thread, you may also try this.

When sewing "knee patches" on jeans, it is best to use the press-on type of patches. After the patches have been pressed on, machine stitch close to the outer edges. The machine stitching will not show and will prevent curling up and pulling off in the washer and dryer. When machine stitching any small, hard-to-get-at place, turn this part of the garment wrong side out. In this way, the presser foot will fit nicely in the narrow area since there will be nothing pulling it out of position from under the presser foot.

Like to try these on for size? Call me and I'll tell you where they can be found.

REPAIR WORK AND PREVENTION OF TEARS

"Dear Eunice,

"Being the mother of four boys, my sewing is not the 'glamor' type, but rather patching and mending. Since they all got new shirts for Christmas, perhaps you can help me with one of my biggest headaches, torn pockets. Among the top repair jobs are replacing buttons and knee patches."

MRS. M.R.

I think there is a rather simple solution to your "pocket" problems. Baste a strip of muslin across the top of the pocket, on the wrong side of the shirt. This strip of muslin should be about two inches wide and one inch longer than the pocket. From the right side of the shirt, machine stitch over the previous stitching, from the top corner down about two inches. Use a rather small machine stitch

WHY GROW OLD?

It's That Time Again—Lose 20 Pounds on the Marathon

It's marathon time again—that time of year when we are all in a reducing mood, and I am here to help you! Thanksgiving, Christmas and New Year's, all in a row, are enough to test the calorie counting of any woman! The general idea of self-improvement is in the mind of every woman who has allowed herself to become less lovely than she wishes to be, who has neglected her looks or added pounds, but it becomes crucial at this time of year.

Reducing is easier today than it ever has been. Since the medical profession turned its spotlight on the dangers of overweight, and the value of youth and the form divine have been so emphasized, there have been changes in the food market.

Today you can buy really good but very low-calorie salad dressings. You can buy water-packed fruits and tuna fish and other such items. You can use one of the artificial sweeteners. You can whip cream out of fat-free powdered milk crystals, to mention a few products which take the pain out of dieting.

A loss of overweight can make a woman look years younger. It can also add pleasure to shopping, and rid her of self-consciousness. It also has been proven that obesity makes us more susceptible to the chronic diseases and killers from middle age on.

Tens of thousands of women join my Self-Improvement Marathon every year at this time to see how much they can improve themselves in eight weeks. The routines require only a small amount of time each day.

The marathon booklet gives you directions for calculating what your ideal weight is and what your measurements should be, directions for measuring yourself, a calorie chart, exercises for the most usual figure faults a chart on which you can keep a record of your progress and a personality development plan.

If you would like to join women all over the country in becoming more attractive in just eight weeks, send 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for the Marathon booklet. Address Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Those who join Josephine Lowman's Marathon will find that she recommends exercises along with dieting. You'll like pedalling as if riding a bicycle in this position.

Give Your Neck Daily Care for Youthful Look

The neck is one spot that quickly gives away a woman's true age. No matter how trim her figure, smooth her face or shining her hair, her neck will tell her secrets.

There are many reasons for this. But chief among them is neglect. For some reason, women tend to concentrate on the facial area when they apply cream. The woman who does neck exercises is a rare one. Most women dig their chins into their collars when they walk, sit or read. (Are you guilty?)

So what was a long, graceful, swanlike neck in youth becomes scrawny in middle age. Or what was a smooth, plump white neck becomes fat and wrinkled.

The neck, like any other part of the body, needs exercise to stay in shape. (The simplest is neck rolling. Move your head in a circle from right to back to left and front again.) It needs the nightly care that a rich cream can supply. And it needs a proud carriage at all times, with the head held high.

DEAR ABBY ... Mixed-Up Merry-Go-Round! By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am 33, divorced and believe me, I have many problems. I am seeing a psychiatrist once a week. I met a very good-looking man (I'll call him "Mr. X.") in the psychiatrist's office. We were immediately attracted to each other and found we had a lot in common. We spent a few evenings together (he came to my apartment) and I think I am in love with him.

I told my psychiatrist everything and he said I should quit seeing "Mr. X." because he is more mixed up than I am. If I must make a choice, I will give up seeing the psychiatrist because "Mr. X." is doing more for me than he is. I told my psychiatrist I wasn't seeing Mr. X." any more, but I am. Should I tell the psychiatrist the truth, quit seeing "Mr. X." or quit seeing the psychiatrist?

DEAR MIXED UP: You sought psychiatric help, because you needed it. You still need it. You need help unless you are completely honest with him. X out "Mr. X.", tell your doctor the truth and follow his advice.

DEAR ABBY: The letter from the woman whose husband didn't think he could make it down the aisle at his daughter's wedding sure hit home with me. I was a widower when my daughter married and I flatly refused to "give her away". She was all I had. She was married in the Presbyterian Church and the preacher said nobody had to give the bride away in his service. She walked down the aisle all by herself and not to the strains of Lohengrin, either. (It was too sad and sounded like a funeral march.) I had them play "Pomp and Circumstance." Sincerely,

MIND OF MY OWN

DEAR ABBY: Nobody believes me but this is the truth. I had a wart on my thumb for many years. I went to a doctor and he told me to leave it alone. I was very self-conscious about it because, as you know, warts are not very pretty. A friend of my mother's was visiting one day and we got on the subject of warts. She told me to tie a thread around it, go out in the yard after dark and bury a potato upside down, and the wart would go away just as soon as the potato rotted. Just for a joke, I did it. Within one month my wart disappeared. Can you explain it?

Male Toupees Would Restore Romance, End TV Habit

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Max Miller has a simple goal. "I want President John F. Kennedy to wear a fashion wig," he said.

"That would start the ball rolling the same way it did with George IV of England and Louis XIII of France.

"Soon millions of red-blooded American men would be wearing beautiful, high fashion wigs. Their wives would fall back in love with them. The wholesome loving atmosphere in all those homes would put an end to juvenile delinquency, alcoholism and the television habit."

Miller, 43, the owner of a flourishing mop of hair that makes him his own worst customer, is the dynamic head of Joseph Fleischer wig firm, one of the oldest and largest in the world.

The hairpiece business now is about $50,000,000-a-year industry in the U.S., and getting bigger all the time.

The bald truth of the matter, according to Miller, is that some 3,000,000 American women now wear fashion wigs and some 400,000 to 600,000 men protect their scalps from sunburn, rain, snow and ill-matured laughter with toupees, also known in the trade as "toppers."

Miller feels sure that in another five to 10 years these figures will be trebled or quadrupled.

It is his opinion—well, anyway, his hope—that the fashion wig again will become a status symbol among men, as it already is among many women.

According to Miller, people have been wearing wigs for 10,000 years or so. He says both Hannibal and Nero wore them for purposes of disguise, and that the first Queen Elizabeth, whose hair was scant and thin, had 80 wigs in her wardrobe.

A modern woman's wig today costs from $200 to $700, a man's topper from $165 to $250. They last from two to three years, and can be sent out to be cleaned and dressed for $4.50.

Feminine wigs contain from 250,000 to 300,000 hairs, male toupees about 140,000.

The world hair buying centre is Palermo, Sicily, and the greatest source of supply is the Italian woman peasant. The price ranges all the way from $50 a pound for straight black hair to $400 a pound for pure white or red hair, the colors in scant supply.

Slim Audience Acclaims Buoyant Ballet

By AUDREY JOHNSON
It was with somewhat mixed feelings that I left the Royal Theatre Monday night following the first of two performances by the Royal Winnipeg

Admiration for "a spirited, buoyant young company was dominant, but there was also a sense of frustration that with all the exuberance and much really excellent dancing there should not be the greater perfection of discipline that could place this company in the van of those touring North America today.

There was a modicum of disappointment also (not unfamiliar in Victoria) that the much-advertised appearance of Bolshoi Ballet star, Rimma Karelskaya, had to be cancelled owing to a sudden attack of a chronic illness.

Miss Karelskaya's partner, Boris Hovlov, made a single appearance doing the yellow ribbon dance from the ballet, "The Red Poppy," to music by Gliere.

I found this less than thrilling despite the elegance of Hovlov's technique and the complicated figures he executed. Possibly memories of the Peking Opera's breathtaking and similar Dance of the Red Ribbons are still too fresh.

Taken on the whole, my impression is that the RWB, sans Russian guest stars, is well worth a journey of some distance to see, and certainly deserved more of supposedly ballet-conscious Victoria than to be greeted with rows of empty seats.

A delightful use of color, texture and line characterized the opening number, "Variations for a Lonely Theme" danced to Brahms' Variations on a Theme by Thomas Tallis.

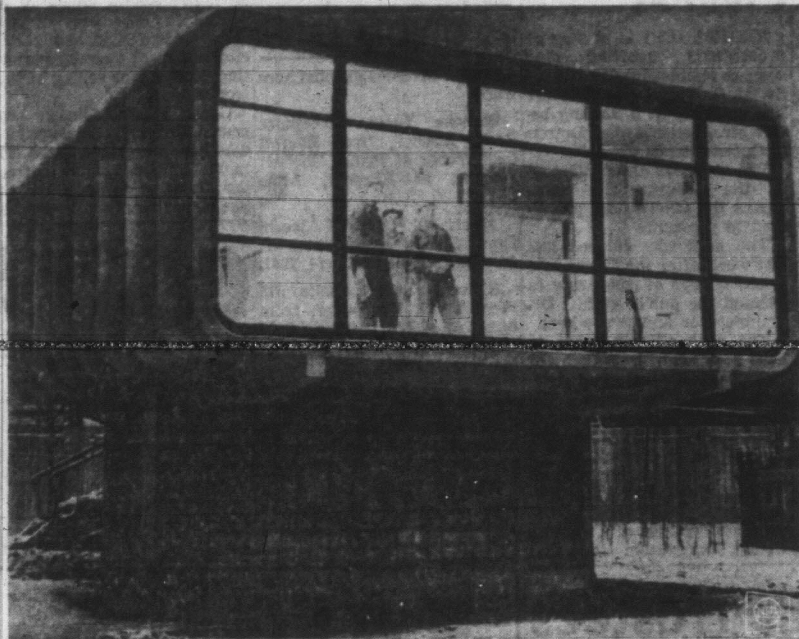

Execution here was cleanly defined, light-footed and technically elegant. Outstanding in this number, and throughout the program was the work of ballet-master David Shields. Beverly Barkley, Marilyn Young and Annamaria were starred and a noteworthy performance was given by Victoria dancer, Sheila Mackinnon.

MOST PLEASING
Mime, grace and color of "Reverence" was most pleasing and the musical score well developed. As an original work by RWB dancer James Clouser, it was stimulating, if not too original in content but a trifle inconsistent as to style of execution.

Sonia Taverner and Richard Rutherford projected considerable feeling into their performance of the lead roles.

"The Comedians" was a completely delightful farce, a spoof of balletic formalism with echoes of Commedia dell'Arte style, danced throughout with genuine verve.

There will be a second performance tonight, curtain time, 8.30. All things considered, I would place this RWB visit high on the "recommended" list.

EIGHTH OF AN APPLE KEEPS DENTIST AWAY

GLASGOW (AP)—A Glasgow education committee hopes one-eighth of an apple a day will keep the dentist away.

Starting next week every schoolchild in West Lothian County will get one-eighth of an apple after lunch as part of a tooth-cleaning campaign.

"It is not the size of the piece of apple that counts," said Dr. Alan Simpson, the county health officer. "A small piece, properly chewed, will serve the purpose."

Arsonists Hunted
CAPE TOWN (AP)—Police said today they are searching for suspected arsonists who tried to burn down Cape Town City Hall Monday night. Several gasoline bombs were thrown at several points in the building and small fires started. The damage was slight.

CUTS BOTH WAYS
The transcript shows Kenneth BeLieu, assistant naval secretary, testified that Canada places more naval contracts in the U.S. than the U.S. does in Canada and that this provides work for American labor. BeLieu also warned that if the U.S. restricts the flow of orders to Canada, Canada might restrict orders to the U.S.

The hearing concentrated on a $325,000,000 naval contract for 10 Polaris submarines obtained by General Dynamics, the U.S. parent of Canadair Limited, Montreal.

It was testified that $3,100,000 worth of subcontracts went to Canada. About $2,000,000 went to Canadian Vickers at Montreal.

Unwed Love May Be Crime In California

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The California Supreme Court again is being asked to consider the matter of sex between persons who aren't married.

The court ruled last month that fornication is not illegal in California. The ruling came in the case of Carol Lane, 24, who was arrested and jailed for what the city of Los Angeles calls "resorting."

Los Angeles charged her with going from "her living room to bedroom with a man not her husband."

The supreme court granted her petition for a writ of habeas corpus and commented:

"Neither simple fornication nor adultery alone nor living in a state of cohabitation and fornication has been made a crime in this state."

TWO-WAY CIRCUMSTANCE

What would be a crime, the court said, would be the combination of adultery and cohabitation. That would be a married man or woman living with someone other than their spouse.

The City of Los Angeles asked the supreme court Thursday to rehear its case. The state, through the attorney general's office, also asked for a rehearing.

George T. Franciscell, deputy city attorney of Los Angeles, said: "Fornication and adultery are outrages upon public decency and morals."

He said he was sure the supreme court did not intend to "grant asylum for an office which is evil to itself."

BUSINESS VIEWS

Alberta to Hike Royalty Demands On Oil Wells

By GORDON BELL
Times Business Editor

Upward revision of Alberta oil royalty rates—which could significantly affect the revenues of some of the smaller producers—is expected at the next session of the Alberta Legislature at the end of this month.

The oil industry, through the Canadian Petroleum Association, has been advised of the proposed changes but neither the government nor the CPA has made public what the changes will be. The CPA, however, is fighting the idea. It is believed that the government plans to boost its royalty demands on wells with low production rates. This would have the effect, in marginal cases, of shutting off production. Conversely, it would allow heavier production from the higher producing wells.

Alberta's present royalty rates are set on a sliding scale based on a well's monthly production. The government apparently believes that in cases of low producers, the present low royalty rates are acting as a sort of subsidy.

Companies which would be mainly affected by the new legislation are those which produce in very thin formations or which are producing very heavy crude.

Payments Cover Wide Range

Royalty payments in Alberta range all the way from 5 per cent for wells producing up to 600 barrels a month to 225 barrels plus 20 per cent royalty on wells producing between 1,800 to 4,050 barrels a month. Oil wells producing in excess of 4,050 barrels a month, the royalty drops back to a straight 16-23 per cent.

Although it is pointless to make comparisons between the immense amount of revenue poured into the Alberta treasury from oil and the small trickle produced for the government in B.C., it is significant that at a time when B.C.'s oil revenues are starting to climb, those of Alberta are beginning to drop.

Alberta's royalty revenue, which hit a peak of $36 million in 1957 had dropped to $26.6 million in 1960. By curbing the marginal producers and making more room for the medium and heavy producers, which pay higher royalties, the trend could be reversed.

For seven successive months of 1961—June to December—Canadian construction contract award totals surpassed comparable figures for 1960, according to Maclean Building Reports.

Year-end figures for 1961 show overall gains in seven provinces, three regions (including the Western) and nine project classifications. The cumulative national grand total for the year was 5.5 per cent above 1960 and an increase of 4.9 per cent in "big job" contract volume was recorded.

Another indicator of the pick-up in the construction trade is seen in a report from Interprovincial Building Credits Ltd. of an increasing demand for financing of home improvements.

Interprovincial's December purchases of receivable exceeded $2 million, an all-time high.

150,000 Share Issue Peel Plan

Annual meeting of Peel Resources Ltd. Jan. 18 will be asked to approve a motion enabling directors to issue 150,000 shares of 6-per cent, cumulative, $100-par preferred shares at their discretion during the current year.

Job-Finding By NES Gains

OTTAWA (CP) — The National Employment Service placed 1,119,853 workers in jobs during 1961, it has been announced.

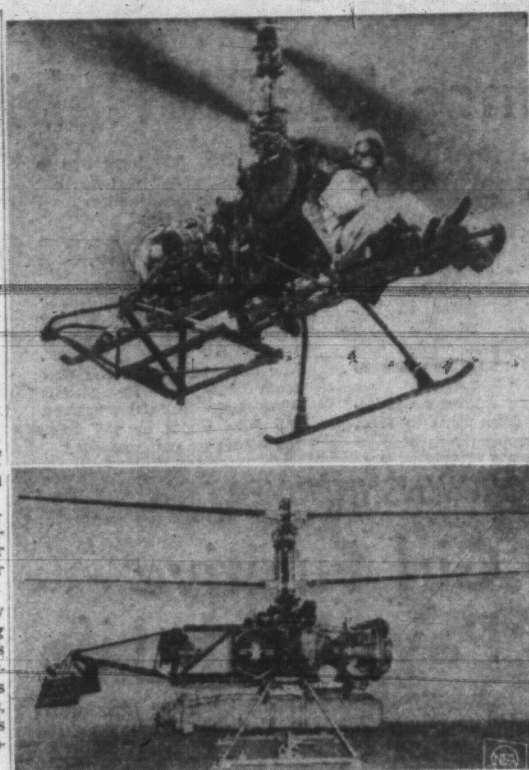

The placement total—up 17 per cent over 1960—tops the records for every year since 1945, when wartime conditions kept manpower demands high.

The National Employment Service, set up in 1941 as the job-finding wing of the Unemployment Insurance Commission, placed 748,135 men and 371,720 women in jobs in 1961. Male placements were 16.6 per cent higher than the previous year, while female placements were up 17.5 per cent.

The shares will be issued if the company needs additional funds to continue development work on its copper claims adjoining the Craigmont property. Peel has a 53 per cent interest in the claims—held by Sheba Copper Mines Ltd.—with the balance held by Cas-siar Consolidated Mines Ltd.

Mineralization of the Tor-mont Mines Ltd. No. 2 hole at its Craigmont area property between 379 and 510 feet was "not of ore grade," according to Tor-mont president Andrew Robertson.

After grouting a fault out at 540 feet, the hole is continuing towards its 800-foot objective. Monday it was reported at 562 feet.

SUB SINKER—A new U.S. weapon against enemy submarines is nearing the operational stage. This is the DASH (Drone Anti-Submarine Helicopter), shown in bottom photograph with two dummy torpedoes. In top photo, a manned version is given a test flight. The remote-controlled DASH, built by Gyrodyne Co., is powered by a 270-h.p. gas turbine engine. It will be carried aboard specially outfitted destroyers. When the ship's sonar gear picks up a sub many miles away, the DASH will take off and drop long-range homing torpedoes, which will seek out the sub.

New Patrol Bylaw Delayed As Oak Bay Fears 'Racket'

Passage of a bylaw to permit private protection agencies to supplement police was blocked in Oak Bay council Monday night.

The Private Patrol Agencies Regulation and Licensing By-law was to be reconsidered and adopted, allowing an applicant, Western Home Guard Patrol Ltd., to operate in the municipality.

On motion by Coun. Fred Hawes the bylaw was tabled until next week's meeting to enable some points to be checked.

Solicitor Marsh Gordon objected to the bylaw as it stood, feeling some sections are beyond the authority of a municipal council.

The bylaw was based upon one enforced in Vancouver, where the patrol agency named originated. It has already extended its operation to Victoria City.

DON'T WANT RACKET
"I'm amazed that anyone in the municipality of Oak Bay should suggest that we need additional protection" than that already provided by police, Coun. Hawes said.

"We don't want this to develop into a racket," he said. "They may not fulfill their commitments."

He objected to the possibility of high-pressure soliciting of clients for the service, and Coun. Allan Cox suggested elimination of a clause permitting door-to-door selling of protection.

Coun. Fred Robinson suggested council determine whether there is a need for more protection, then correct the situation through the police department if necessary.

Shumiatcher Free of Nine Charges

REGINA (CP) — A stay of proceedings involving nine charges against Regina lawyer Dr. M. C. Shumiatcher became final Monday at a hearing before Mr. Justice Arden Doherty in Queen's Bench Court.

The stay was entered Jan. 4 by the Crown. The move means the Crown does not intend to prosecute.

The stay was entered late last week after the Crown laid a new charge of conspiring to defraud the public against Dr. Shumiatcher and two others.

The nine charges were to have been heard by a Court of Queen's Bench Judge on Monday. Two were charges of counselling false declarations and seven were charges of counselling perjury.

The charges stemmed from an investigation by the Saskatchewan Securities Commission into dealings of Columbia Metals Exploration Company.

DIVORCES

Recent divorces granted here were:

Isabel Elizabeth Cooley, 3010 Balfour Avenue, Victoria, from Victor Justice Cooper, 2275 Neil Street, Victoria; married Victoria, 1951.

Saanich Woman Heads Trustees As New Committees Appointed

Mrs. Frances Thompson, Saanich trustee, was elected chairman of the Greater Victoria School Board by acclamation at the inaugural meeting Monday night.

David Logan, city trustee, was elected vice-chairman. He was unopposed.

Standing committees were appointed by the new chairman at the same meeting.

Chairman of the education committee is R. W. Frethy,

Oak Bay trustee. Mr. Logan was named to the finance committee, and Esquimalt trustee R. H. Reeve, the buildings and grounds committee. Public relations chairman is city trustee Ralph Fryer.

The chairmen of the four committees will act as a purchasing committee.

Welcomed to the board were newly elected trustees John Porteous, city, and Peter Bunn, Oak Bay.

In accepting the chairmanship of the board, Mrs. Thompson drew attention to the fact that 1962 was "Education Year." She hoped that through the efforts of the board, it would be a memorable year in education.

She also said she hoped to bring about closer liaison with teachers as requested by the Greater Victoria Teachers' Association.

U.K. RUSHING DRUG TO SAVE RED SCIENTIST

LONDON (AP) — A rare drug was rushed by plane from London to Moscow today to save the life of one of Russia's top scientists. An appeal for the drug, Ureaphil, was flashed to London Monday night by the Soviet Institute of Medicine.

The sick scientist was identified as Lev Davidovich Landau, Russian physicist recently hurt in a car crash.

The appeal was passed to Sir John Cockcroft, British atomic scientist and old acquaintance of Landau.

Cockcroft said, "Professor Landau is probably the world's greatest theoretical physicist—and certainly top in his field in Russia."

5 Children, All Under 6, Die in Fire

KAMLOOPS (CP) — Five children, the eldest five years of age, died Monday night when fire roared through their small frame home on the outskirts of the community of Barriere, 45 miles north of here.

The five children of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Bowie were alone in the house when the fire erupted suddenly and swept quickly through the small home.

Dead are Robert Bowie, 5; Gilbert, 4; John, 3; Stanley, 18 months and Harvey, five months old.

The parents were not at home when the fire broke out. There is no fire-fighting equipment in Barriere, a community of some 500 in the North Thompson valley.

Cause of the fire has not been determined.

SEEN BY NEIGHBORS

RCMP said the fire was noticed by neighbors about 11 p.m. But no rescue attempt was made, neighbors said, because they did not think anyone was in the house.

In any case, they told police, by the time the blaze was noticed it was burning too fiercely to approach it.

One neighbor told police that the house appeared to "just blow up" in smoke and flame. The charred bodies of the children were recovered from the ruins this morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Bowie were out visiting friends at the time of the fire.

Russians To Release Airliner

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet government agreed today to release a Belgian airliner forced down Monday in Soviet Armenia while on a flight from Tehran to Brussels with 27 persons aboard.

First Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily G. Kuznetsov told Belgian Ambassador Hyppolite Coels that all passengers and crew members were safe and staying at a hotel in Grozny, north of Yerevan, where the plane was reported forced down.

Kuznetsov delivered a routine formal protest about the violation of Soviet air space by the jetliner.

There was no further word on how the plane, en route from Tehran to Istanbul, strayed so far off its course. Nor was there any word on just how it was forced down.

The plane landed after radioing that it was being pursued by Soviet MiG jet fighters.

OTTAWA — The Liberal Party today unveiled a contributory pension plan for Canadians to which each individual would contribute according to his earnings.

Within one year of the plan becoming law, existing old-age pensions would be increased by $20, to a minimum of $75 for single pensioners and $130 for married couples.

With provincial co-operation, old-age assistance would be increased to the same levels.

From the start, said the party, in an official statement of policy, the plan would be financially self-supporting through contributions, and no increase in taxes would be required.

At present, old-age pensions of $55 a month are paid to those aged 70 and over. To those between 65 and 70 old-age assistance, also $55 a month, is paid by the provincial and federal governments, on the basis of a means test.

FOR LATE-COMERS

In some provinces, the provincial government provides payments to supplement the pensions.

The increase in the basic pension of $20 a month is designed to take care of those who have no opportunity to contribute to the proposed contributory plan.

The policy statement said: "Liberal governments introduced the universal old-age pension and, in co-operation with the provinces, made old-age assistance available to people between 65 and 70 who are in need."

BURDEN LIFTED

"This government action is a supplement to private saving. But, while many companies now have good pension schemes, the majority of the working population is not covered by them. And there are other problems."

"While young people can build up good pensions by the time they retire, new private plans cannot enable older

Two of Suspects Held in Victoria

Two men were arrested in Victoria today in one of three raids on the West Coast narcotics racket.

A total of 42 suspected traffickers were rounded up in Vancouver, Victoria and Calgary in the biggest case of its kind ever launched.

Vancouver's tally in the raid was 38; the remaining two were arrested in Calgary.

Helicopters Removing Ship's Crew

HALIFAX (CP) — Helicopters started removing the crew from the grounded freighter Suerte today when rough seas and shallow water kept tugs from reaching her.

A navy helicopter brought off Capt. Dimitrios Charissis of Athens in mid-morning to discuss his ship's plight with shipping agents and salvage men.

A few hours later they decided to remove all 28 crew members except a watchdog squad of three. Navy and air force helicopters did the job in relays, landing the men, most of them Greeks, at nearby Shearwater naval air station.

The 7,238-ton Suerte ran onto a coastal reef about 15 miles east of here late Monday night in foggy weather. She was bound for Halifax from Britain to load grain.

ANSWER DISTRESS CALL

The Halifax salvage tug Foundation Vigilant and the navy patrol boat Loon stood by the stricken ship after Capt. Charissis sent out a distress call.

There was confusion about the Suerte's registry. Lloyd's of London listed her as Panamanian. The word Beirut painted on her stern indicated she was Lebanese, but her agents here, F. K. Warren Ltd., said she is now registered in Costa Rica.

The Suerte stuck fast Monday night on hidden rocks about 500 feet off Shut-In Island near the entrance to the little fishing port of Three Fathoms Harbor.

She began leaking badly. By morning much of her hold was filled with water. Her engine-room was flooded.

Officers of the Vigilant, a salvage tug, said the first job would be to pump enough water out of the freighter to free her from the reef.

FACES OUSTER

African Solidarity Party moved today to strip Antoine Giszenga from an active role in the Congolese government. The party today disclaimed his leadership, following resolution by parliament Monday, demanding Giszenga return from self-imposed exile in Stanleyville to answer accusations of secessionism.

RCMP in Vancouver today identified the two men arrested in Victoria as Barry Rushworth and Donald Thompson. They are at present in custody in Vancouver.

LIFE TERMS FACED

All the suspects have been charged with conspiring to traffic in narcotics. If convicted they face a maximum penalty of life imprisonment.

Substantive charges of possession of narcotics for trafficking purposes were laid against 22 of the suspects.

The arrests were a result of three-month investigation by RCMP and the Vancouver City police.

Police said three pounds of heroin, worth $200,000 on the illicit market, were seized during the investigation.

NO PROBE HERE

Superintendent F. S. Spalding, head of the RCMP Criminal Investigation Bureau in B.C., said in Victoria today there was no extensive investigation here. The two men arrested in Victoria were "picked up" at the request of police in Vancouver.

He said the men were thought to be part of a syndicate.

NEW METHOD

Police in Vancouver said the syndicate employed a new method of distribution, caching the narcotics in one-ounce bundles in the washrooms of service stations in Vancouver and Burnaby, and in some coin laundries.

They said the bundles were planted by the syndicate's "back-end" men and then picked up by traffickers who then used the wholesale price of $600 an ounce.

SUSPECT SHADOWED

Police first heard of the operation at the beginning of October. The first break came Nov. 13 when a one-ounce bundle of white powder, wrapped in newspaper, was found jammed behind the sink in the washroom of a service station.

A sample was analyzed as 89 per cent pure heroin, they said.

According to police officers most of the suspects arrested were non-users of narcotics. They said only big operators could afford to deal in such quantities of heroin.

Hospital Act Planned In Quebec

QUEBEC (CP) — The throne speech at today's opening of the Quebec legislature forecast legislation that would make basic and far-reaching changes in three major areas—hospitals, electoral law and Quebec's economy.

The speech, read by newly appointed Lieutenant-Governor Paul Comtois, said the government plans "yet another long step forward in the field of public health with a proposal for legislation concerning hospitals."

Observers speculated this meant a hospital act, governing administration of hospitals in the province. Quebec is the only province without such an act.

Living Costs Hit New High

OTTAWA (CP) — Living costs in Canada reached a record high in November as the consumer price index rose by one-tenth of a point to 129.8 at Dec. 1.

The increase from 129.7 at Nov. 1 was caused by higher prices for food, housing and health and personal care, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported today.

Clothing and transportation costs decreased.

"The Alerters" sally forth.

SEATTLE WOMEN ARM FOR DEFENCE

SEATTLE (AP) — A small band of women vigilantes who call themselves "The Alerters" patrolled Capitol Hill Monday night in the first skirmish of their fight against purse snatchers and the like.

"We're going to see that between 5.30 and 7.30 p.m. women can walk the streets without being attacked," said their captain, Mrs. Dottie Stenerson, who armed herself with a cricket bat.

There are about 10 women in the group, and three of them have been attacked within recent weeks in the area, in central Seattle.

They answered the call to arms with rolling pins, a baseball bat, a toilet plunger, a billy club, a saucepan, an umbrella, a cane and Mrs. Stenerson's cricket bat.

The women had a conference with Police Inspector W. W. Crow and Sgt. Wilbur Farmer.

"I'd advise against women carrying weapons that could be taken away from them by any able-bodied citizen and then used to attack them," said Crow.

"Perhaps the best method would be using something that makes a lot of noise, like a police whistle. But these people are all over 21 and within their rights."

Mrs. Stenerson said The Alerters want quicker response by police to calls for help, fewer kids running around in bunches and better street lighting.

Uphill Fight Faces Wilson

By JOHN MIKA

A long, hard fight is ahead for Mayor R. B. Wilson if he wants to see his plea for a metro police force, or even a study of municipal amalgamation, accepted by the civic politicians.

The suggestion for unifying the four separate police departments to improve efficiency and economy was slapped down Monday only hours after Mayor Wilson voiced it in his first inaugural address.

Oak Bay Reeve George Murdoch and Esquimalt Reeve A. C. Wurtele, both of whom earlier asked for standardized police training here, rejected the proposal.

Sanich Reeve Stanley Murphy said a study of total amalgamation should be carried out.

Government sources said if the diplomatic situation justifies it, Indonesia would not object to Thant making an effort to bring the two parties together and sitting in on the talks.

Tanker Plane in Ocean; 9 Aboard

NEW YORK (UPI)—A huge U.S. Air Force tanker plane with nine men aboard was feared today to have plunged into the Atlantic on a flight from Virginia to the Azores Islands.
The KB50 piston and jet-powered tanker had only enough fuel to stay aloft until Monday midnight but by noon today had not been heard from.

Canada to Buy Share of UN Bonds

OTTAWA (UPI)—Finance Minister Donald Fleming announced today that Canada will subscribe $6,240,000 (U.S.) to the special bond issue recently announced by the United Nations to cover Congo and Middle East operations.
The total issue is $200 million (U.S.) and the amount of the Canadian subscription will match the Canadian assessment of 3.12 per cent for the normal United Nations' budget.

U.S. Blasts 9th Underground Test

WASHINGTON (AP)—A low-yield nuclear test blast, the ninth to be announced by the United States Atomic Energy Commission in its current series, was set off today at the Nevada test site.
Low yield normally means an explosive force equivalent to not more than 20,000 tons of TNT.
The AEC said the blast was detonated underground, but gave no other details.

Each Individual Will Contribute

By TOM GOULD

OTTAWA—The Liberal Party today unveiled a contributory pension plan for Canadians to which each individual would contribute according to his earnings.

Within one year of the plan becoming law, existing old-age pensions would be increased by $20, to a minimum of $75 for single pensioners and $130 for married couples.

From the start, said the party, in an official statement of policy, the plan would be financially self-supporting through contributions, and no increase in taxes would be required.

FULLY PORTABLE

All Canadian wage earners and salaried employees would be required to contribute a percentage of their income to the plan. Only the self-employed would be exempt, and, as a result, the pension plan would be fully portable.

The statement said "the size of pensions will rise year by year, as people retire after contributing to the new plan. Full pension rates—a good proportion of most peoples earnings, will be reached in 10 years. These pensions will be available from age 65."
A group of experts has been working on the program for months.

'Death-Bed Repentance' PM Scoffs

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker today described the Liberal party's new pension promise as "a death-bed repentance."

He told reporters after a cabinet meeting that he had not had time to study the Liberal pension platform, "but all will remember the six-buck boys in 1957."

"The same people that today are making these promises were those that said then that $6 was enough."

"These death-bed repentances are revealing, if not always helpful."

Prior to the 1957 general election the former Liberal government raised the old-age pension to $16 from $40 a month. Later, the Conservative government raised it to $55.

Officer, Convict Die in Gunfight

(Times News Services)

MONTREAL—A policeman and an escaped convict were killed and two other policemen wounded today in a fierce gun battle in Montreal's tough east end.

The shooting started in an east-end tenement district at the rear of Delorimier Baseball Stadium. The two Quebec Provincial Police detectives had gone to a used car lot nearby, to check on a tip that two men answering the escapees' description were trying to buy an automobile with stolen bonds.

The plainclothesmen arrived seconds after the two fugitives got suspicious and fled into a nearby lane. They circled the area, spotted their quarry, and called city police for help.

A uniformed city patrol sergeant and several constables arrived in two cars and blocked off each end of the lane, and a chase started. It continued through back alleys and in and out of backyards until both fugitives ran into a three-story tenement.

During the chase the convicts shot Provincial Police Detective Roger Robideaux to death as he ran, gun in hand, up the stairs to the second floor of the building. They traded shots with the uniformed sergeant, and shot him in the back as he swung around to run for a better position.

The sergeant ran downstairs to a ground floor flat where he called headquarters for reinforcements, and collapsed. He was taken to Notre Dame Hospital where he was reported to be partly paralyzed as a result of the back wound.

Meanwhile, other city police arrived in close to 20 cars, partly as a result of an unidentified citizen's prompt action in shouting an alarm into the open microphone of one of the battling officer's car radios.

One of the gunmen, identified as Raymond Rouleau, 25, was gunned down as he emptied his revolver from a third floor balcony at officers in the snow on the street.

His companion fled from the building. He was later located in another building nearby, and police surrounded that.

U.K. RUSHING DRUG TO SAVE RED SCIENTIST

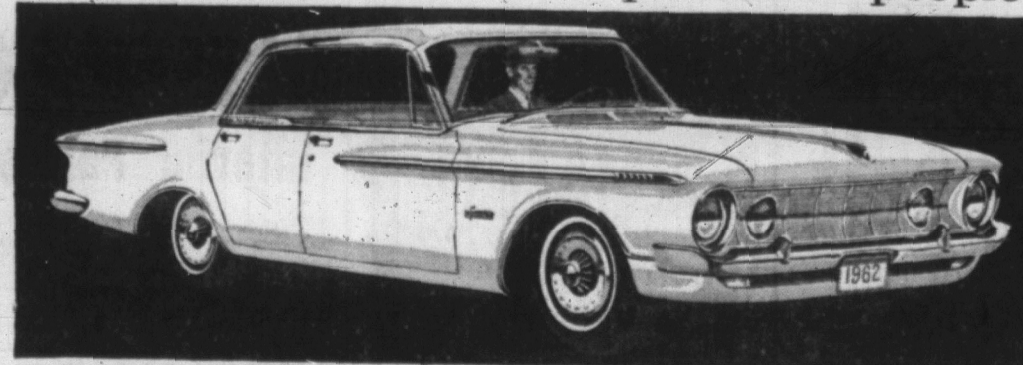

LONDON (AP)—A rare drug was rushed by plane from London to Moscow today to save the life of one of Russia's top scientists. An appeal for the drug, Ureaphil, was flashed to London Monday night by the Soviet Institute of Medicine.

The sick scientist was identified as Lev Davidovich Landau, Russian physicist recently hurt in a car crash.

The appeal was passed to Sir John Cockcroft, British atomic scientist and old acquaintance of Landau. Cockcroft said, "Professor Landau is probably the world's greatest theoretical physicist—and certainly top in his field in Russia."

DROWNS IN RIVER

Girl Fugitive Pays With Life

WINNIPEG (CP)—One of three girls who fled Monday night from the Manitoba Home for Girls in suburban North Kildonan was drowned in the Red River, authorities reported today.

The two other girls are in hospital suffering from frostbite and exposure.

The three, 12, 14, and 15 years old, climbed a 10-foot fence during a skating party and fled across the river in their stocking feet. Two of them plunged through the ice.

Home superintendent D. H. Lawrence risked his life to save one of them, after she clung to the ice for 10 minutes. RCMP and North Kildonan police searched the area for the missing girl but no footprints were found in the snow.

No names were released. The girls were missed four minutes after they climbed the fence. One of the girls was behind the other two and after she saw them go through the ice, she ran back to the school.

Mr. Lawrence and other staff members who ran to the scene spotted the girl clinging to the ice. The superintendent crawled out on the thin ice and threw a rope to the girl.

After four attempts, he was able to loop the rope around her shoulder and pull her free.

... DRUG RING

Continued from Page 1. October. The first break came Nov. 13 when a one-ounce bundle of white powder, wrapped in newspaper, was found jammed behind the sink in the washroom of a service station.

A sample was analyzed as 89 per cent pure heroin, they said.

According to police officers most of the suspects arrested were non-users of narcotics.

They said only big operators could afford to deal in such quantities of heroin.

... HELICOPTERS

There was confusion about the Suerte's registry. Lloyd's of London listed her as Panamanian. The word Beirut painted on her stern indicated she was Lebanese, but her agents here, F. K. Warren Ltd., said she is now registered in Costa Rica.

The Suerte stuck fast Monday night on hidden rocks about 500 feet off Shut-In Island near the entrance to the little fishing port of Three Fathom Harbor.

She began leaking badly. By morning much of her hold was filled with water. Her engine-room was flooded. Officers of the Vigilant, a salvage tug, said the first job would be to pump enough water out of the freighter to free her from the reef.
